Dorothy Lee Weller of Glendale Describes Her Visit to State Prison

By DOROTHY LEE WELLER
Wife of Assemblyman Frank C. Weller of Glendale. Special to The Glendale Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—Taking advantage of the beautiful spring weather, Senator A. Burlingame Johnson and Mrs. Johnson of Pasadena, Mr. Weller and I yesterday drove out to the state penitentiary at Folsom for the purpose of obtaining information regarding the care and treatment of the inmates.

Through the courtesy of the warden of the state prison we were permitted to observe the prisoners' mode of living. We arrived shortly after luncheon had been served. It was, indeed, a most interesting sight to see 1200 inmates march single file, three feet apart, from the dining hall to their respective cells. Yes, an interesting and a saddening sight.

Most of the prisoners are in the new building, which is modern and sanitary in every respect. Only a few of the prisoners were in the proverbial striped uniform. Those in stripes were men who had broken rules or had attempted to escape.

As we entered the old cellhouse it was indeed a strange sensation to hear the big iron doors locked behind us and to realize that we were "prisoners" in the same building with several hundred hardened criminals, all serving their second to eleventh terms, with two in the "death row," awaiting execution.

We visited the dining-room, the shoe-shop, the bakery, the tailoring-shop and other departments. All seemed exceedingly clean, airy and otherwise well kept. Later, with several other members of the Legislature, our party gathered on the veranda of the warden's home and enjoyed a concert by the prison band, composed of convicts. The warden had the players served with ice cream and cake.

I was impressed with the fact that the inmates are, apparently, well treated. The majority are young men who do not look the part of convicts.

I came away from the state penitentiary with the feeling that the youth of today should be guided so that they may be spared the monotonous life within prison walls.

THREAT IS HURLED BY ACID THROWER

Young Mrs. Day Says She'll Charge Mother-in-Law With Alienation

LOS ANGELES, March 2.—"If this prosecution or rather, persecution, is not halted, I will sue my mother-in-law, Mrs. Darby Day, Sr., for $100,000 for alienation of the affections of my husband."

This was the threat made today by Mrs. Darby Day, Jr., 20-year old bride of the son of the millionaire Chicago insurance company official, when she appeared for arraignment on a charge of throwing acid in her husband's face.

'Treated As Servant'

Mrs. Day charged she was treated as a servant in the lavish household of her mother-in-law.

"I had to listen to the scoldings of Mrs. Day all the time," the young wife said, "and she caused all the trouble. Darby's father was alright. Finally they accused me of being insane.

"When Darby sided with his mother—that was the last I could stand."

Pleas of not guilty were entered by Mrs. Day and her sister, Caroline Lundstrom, the latter held for "aiding and abetting" in the alleged acid attack. Later Mrs. Day was released on $5000 bail and her sister freed on $1000 bail.

RADIO MEASURE

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President Coolidge today signed a bill extending to June 30, 1927, the use of naval radio facilities for the transmission of press messages across the Pacific.

EBERT SUCCESSOR HOTLY DISCUSSED

Late German President Rule Besmirched With Mud By Nationalists

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service

BERLIN, March 2.—While the Nationalist press continued today to throw mud on the record of the late President Ebert, whom the reactionaries blame for the fall of the empire, the bulk of the German nation participated in mourning for the dead leader.

The Wilhelmstrasse was thronged all day with thousands who came to pay homage to the former saddle-maker who became Germany's first president. Through the silk curtains behind the great windows they could see the flickering candles at his bier. Two Reichswehr soldiers stood at rigid attention under the huge black-draped chandeliers in the entrance of the palace.

Memorial Ceremony

The official program of mourning includes a memorial ceremony at the presidential palace Wednesday afternoon when Chancellor Luther will eulogize the leadership of the president. Then the cortege will pass down Unter Den Linden, through the Brandenburg gate to the Reichstag where the nation, through the deputies, will bid farewell to Ebert. The body will be taken Wednesday night to Heidelburg where the funeral will be held Thursday morning.

Meanwhile a hot controversy over Ebert's successor is in full swing. The most frequently mentioned candidate seems to be former Chancellor Marx, who can carry the votes of all the middle parties—centrists, social democrats, and probably many other parties.

Zep Hero Mentioned

Dr. Hugo Eckener, hero of the trans-Atlantic flight of the ZR-3, now the Los Angeles, whose prospects as a presidential choice were first revealed by International News Service in November, is prominently mentioned as the only man remote from party strife. However, his candidacy seems most doubtful because he still has big plans for Zeppelin development, including a flight over the north pole.

South China Dictator Grows Slowly Weaker

PEKING, March 2.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, veteran South China statesman, was in a state of coma today, growing continually weaker.

COOLIDGE NOT IGNORED, IS DECLARED

General Mitchell Denies He Violated Orders From President or Chief

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Brigadier-General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, flatly denied in a letter to the House aircraft committee today that he violated orders of President Coolidge and the war department in writing articles on aircraft for a weekly magazine.

Secretary of War Weeks told the committee Saturday that Mitchell had violated orders by not submitting the article to his superior officers for approval.

Defends Battleship

Assailing critics of the navy, Rear-Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, retired, formerly chief of naval operations, today told the House aircraft committee that the battleship is not obsolete.

Fiske challenged particularly previous testimony by Rear-Admiral William S. Sims, retired, who said aircraft had made the battleship obsolete.

"A battleship can stand a bombing attack better than anything else in the world," said Fiske.

600 KILLED, 2000 INJURED IN BLAST

Dynamite Plus Gasoline Cost Huge Fatality In Port of Rio de Janeiro

By ARROXALLAS GALVAO
Copyright, 1925, by International News Service.

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 2.—More than six hundred persons were killed and more than 2,000 injured in the explosion of tons of dynamite and thousands of litres of gasoline on Caju island, Police Commissioner Salvador of Conceieao estimated this afternoon in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

At this time an official government bulletin announced that 316 of the dead had been identified and 1,811 injured tabulated. Many bodies, it was feared, were burned to ashes in the fire that followed the devastating blast.

Commissioner Salvador made his estimate after a visit with International News Service correspondent, the only press representative granted this privilege, to the smouldering island.

Buildings Destroyed

"It will be possible to draw up an official death list only when it is noted in time what men failed to return to their homes," Senor Salvador said.

The government's bulletin said 2,323 buildings have been destroyed. After noting that the identified dead numbered 316," the bulletin added. "And this will probably be doubled."

When shown copies of the cablegrams sent by International News Service here to the United States, Feliciano Sodre, president of the state of Rio de Janeiro, said:

"I wish to congratulate International News upon the accuracy of its reports."

END COMES TO NUMBER OF MEASURES

Important Bills Expected To 'Die' As Congress Faces Inauguration

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Overnight developments indicate that both at the executive and legislative ends of the government machinery is going at top speed in anticipation not only of the inauguration but the windup of Congress Wednesday.

Many important bills will die. The sponsors concede that. The record of this session will not be one that the Republicans will boast about. But they are girdling their loins for a real session in the latter part of this year.

Aggressive Combination

The election of Representative Longworth of Ohio as speaker and Representative Tilson of Connecticut as floor leader insures an aggressive combination of party leadership in the House. In the Senate the reading out of the party of some of the insurgents spells trouble especially when it is possible under Senate rules for a handful of men to act as obstructionists almost at will.

Meanwhile at the executive end of Pennsylvania avenue the conversations begun between the new French ambassador and Secretary Mellon relative to debts is in line with the French determination no longer to ignore the question but to make a pretense at least of giving it consideration and arguing for better terms.

The return of Frank B. Kellogg, new secretary of state, starts the new foreign policy working because in the several weeks since the resignation of Secretary Hughes was announced no major policies have been embarked upon.

Weeks May Resign

This has been in a sense true of other departments where vacancies occur so that March 4 when the new session of the Senate meets and Charles B. Warren is confirmed as attorney general will get that big department working on its numerous cases. Mr. Warren may yet be confirmed before March 4 as opposition to him is crumbling.

No new vacancies in the cabinet are imminent though it is known that the secretary of war, John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, will resign within a few months. His resignation has long been in the hands of the president to be acted upon whenever the president wants to make the change. Mr. Weeks has long been desirious of leaving public life for a few years of rest and travel. He and Mrs. Weeks are planning a trip around the world. The war secretary is a man of considerable means and is not said to be anxious to return to private business.

Other vacancies may occur during the summer months but the president does not want at this time to have too many changes as his mind is occupied with executive troubles. When Congress has adjourned and he can take inventory of what the session has left undone, the next few months will enable him to go more closely into the question of executive personnel.

Partner Rescues Prospector Who Says He Expected Death Like Collins

REDDING, Cal., March 2.—"I kept thinking continually of Floyd Collins, who was buried in that Kentucky cave, and I kept wondering whether I, too, was doomed to die like him, far under the earth."

These were the words today of Fred Ekstrom, a prospector, who was in the Redding hospital recovering from a terrible ordeal after having been buried for six hours under tons of rock and dirt in the bottom of a crude thirty-four foot shaft which caved in on him late Saturday while he and a companion were digging for gold on a small claim on Flat Creek, fourteen miles north of this city.

Partner To Rescue

Ekstrom was saved from a horrible death only through the heroic efforts of his partner, John Nelson. After digging the imprisoned man's head entirely free, Nelson ran to Matheson, a quarter of a mile away, and summoned help.

Ekstrom was found to have sustained a broken leg and was greatly weakened from shock and exposure. Half hysterical, but glad to be alive, he was taken to the Redding hospital.

A news photographer took the snapshot, developed the exposed film and loaned it to an official of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. Several minutes later it was fastened to a hollow cylinder and slipped into a simple apparatus.

Eight-Minute Service

Eight minutes afterward an exact photographic negative in duplicate was taken off a similar machine in San Francisco.

The picture was transmitted over an ordinary telegraphic circuit and as printed here was a marvelous likeness of the chief executive and the first lady of the land.

LIBERAL BLOC IN ATTEMPT TO DEFEAT DRY BILL

Wets Hold Up All Legislation In Effort to Compel Measure's Withdrawal

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The congressional "wet" bloc won an overwhelming victory this afternoon when the Senate stripped the Cramton prohibition bill of all its teeth and agreed to enact it in a form which will make but one minor change in existing law.

This action was agreed to by prohibition leaders to end a filibuster which was staged for two hours by the "wet" forces under the leadership of Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri. The measure will only place prohibition agents under the civil service laws. All other provisions which the House adopted were eliminated.

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The legislative machinery of Congress was paralyzed this afternoon when a bloc of "liberals" launched a filibuster in the Senate to prevent action on the Cramton prohibition bill.

The measure provoked the first conflict between the "wets" and "drys" at the present session and brought to a standstill all legislative activity.

Under the leadership of Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, the "wets" planned to hold the floor until the bill was withdrawn. They refused to permit even a vote on a motion to consider the bill.

The bill was called up by Senator Sterling, Republican of South Dakota, leader of the prohibition forces. He said its passage was necessary to wipe out widespread violations of the prohibition law. The measure would create a separate prohibition bureau and give it control of the legitimate alcohol industry as well as prohibition enforcement.

Senator Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey, spoke at length on prohibition enforcement.

"I have received numerous protests against this bill from legitimate users of industrial alcohol," said Edwards. "There should be no new law which does not fully recognize their rights. This bill is a heavily conceived attempt to meet the demands of fanatical prohibitionists and would result in disaster to legitimate industry. It will fail utterly to accomplish any good in enforcing the prohibition law."

MAY, JULY WHEAT HIT GOOD PRICES

First Reaches $2 Station, Later Rings Bell At Record Top

CHICAGO, March 2.—May wheat hit the $2 mark at the opening of business of the Chicago board of trade today and brought a flurry of buying to the pit. The other deliveries were about steady. By 10 o'clock, the May deliveries had advanced 1⅛ to $2.01⅛.

The May delivery eased off somewhat during the day and at noon the quotation was 199¾.

July wheat, however broke all records by hitting 174½. The previous top price for July was 173.

Private crop reports said to show the reserve supply of grains on farms at the lowest point in twenty years were believed responsible for the rise in price.

School Superintendent Gets Offer From East

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public schools, admitted today to International News Service that he had been offered a similar post in Pennsylvania under Governor Pinchot.

"I have been considering the offer for two months," Wood said, "but as yet I have not determined what course to take."

DAMAGED

STREET CAR FARE TO L. A. DISCUSSED

W. F. Tower Urges Lower Rate To and From City, Gives Reasons Why

Editor The Evening News:—In common with many others I am interested in securing a lower car fare from Glendale to and from Los Angeles and also the establishment of more and larger industries in Glendale. Putting Glendale on an equality in car fares with other communities located an equal distance from the business center of Los Angeles would without doubt help to bring a large number of desirable and permanent residents to occupy our new bungalow court apartments.

Speaking of industries for Los Angeles the president of the Union Pacific system recently said: "I have been particularly interested in the outlook for industrial development of the city. More factories are coming to Los Angeles inevitably because of economic forces."

The completion of the Florence tunnel recently by the Southern California Edison Co. at a cost of $375,000,000 will help all of Southern California and Glendale should share in its benefits.

Electric Energy

It is estimated that it will generate hydro-electric energy of a 1,000,000 horsepower. Abundant power for every conceivable production enterprise. The opinion prevails in Glend.le that we are handicapped for industrial sites. That the area is too small and the price too high approximating in price land for residential purposes.

A survey of such sites giving acreage ownership and price would be a step in the right direction. Then decide upon the kind of industry suitable and desirable and go after it. And without doubt we can practically get what we want. Let us no longer wait for the industries that Glendale so sorely needs.

POSTAL RATE BILL BECOMES REALITY

Coolidge Signs Measure To Increase Both Wages, Mail Charges

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President Coolidge signed the bill which provides for higher postal rates and increased pay for postal employes.

As finally enacted the measure jumps the salaries of the 300,000 postal employes in the aggregate about $66,000,0000 per annum and it is estimated the increased postal rates will net about $61,000,000 per annum. Increased business by the postoffice department, it is predicted, will make up the difference.

For the most part the rates agreed upon are those incorporated in the House bill.

Special delivery service, money orders and C. O. D. packages are all slightly increased.

All the rates are made permanent and are effective within thirty days, the pay increase being retroactive to January of this year. To take care of that provision an appropriation of $34,000,000 was carried in one of the deficiency bills.

BUILT-IN KITCHEN ON LOCAL DISPLAY

Glendale Inventor, Showing 'Marvel of Age,' Alias Collapsible Room

Wonders never cease! Now comes the collapsible combination breakfast nook, ironing board, kitchen stepladder, writing desk and pastry board, with a few little extras slipped in for good measure, the all of which is compressed, when collapsed, into a six-inch wall studding.

Can't be done. But that's what they told Wilbur Wright and the rest of them. So they told Arthur L. Fryer, Glendale builder, when he undertook to boil a whole kitchen down to a few inches of inconspicuous space.

The result of Mr. Fryer's work, now manufactured by the California Built-in Features Co. of Glendale, is on display at the Wilson & Bell Hardware store, 227 North Brand boulevard, this week.

In one cabinet that stands against the wall of the Wilson & Bell store is contained a complete breakfast nook outfit an ironing board and more closet space than is afforded in the ordinary kitchen. Yet the amount of space occupied is almost negligible.

Secret of Patent

A hinge, the result of his own invention, and on which he holds the sole right and patent, and two automatically operated supports, which are also patented, are the only secrets of the whole thing. Mr. Fryer divulged by means of these hinges and the collapsible supports, tables, benches, ironing boards, all melt away into a wall space only a few inches in depth.

To show that the products thus manufactured are sturdy and capable of withstanding the usual knocks and wear and tear, Mr. Fryer uses the breakfast nook seats for a stepladder and the table itself as a dancing platform.

Many different refinements on the combination kitchen outfit have been worked out by Mr. Fryer, and a number of them are on display at the Wilson & Bell store. They will be on exhibition during the early part of this week.

For Council

S. S. BERAN, the nineteenth to receive more than fifty nominations in The Glendale Evening News' nominations for City Council campaign, now being conducted. Who's next?

When The Glendale Evening News announced that it would receive nominations for city councilmen, it was stated that all who received fifty or more nominations would have their pictures published, also a brief biography. It happens that S. S. Beran is the nineteenth proposed candidate to receive fifty or more nominations, so his picture appears above and following is a brief story about him.

S. S. Beran has spent many years in the west as an architect, designer and builder and has had a most unusual experience in his profession. He is now engaged in building in Glendale, being head of the firm which bears his name, with offices at 213½ South Brand boulevard.

Mr. Beran was born in New York city on October 9, 1887, and was educated in the public schools there. He served an apprenticeship in his profession at Passaic, N. J., where he remained seven years. In 1906 he came west and was with the Thompson-Starrett Construction Co. at San Francisco for several years. In 1909 he became an employe of the state department at Sacramento under Governor Johnston, and in 1910 he became a civil service employe in the construction quartermaster's department at Honolulu. He supervised the fortification and construction of the invisible passageway from Fort Diamond Head to several other secret points. He also worked at Fort McKinley and Fort De Ruicy.

On his return to the United States he located at Salt Lake City and was connected with the Trent Engineering Co. Later he went to Portland for the Thompson-Starrett Co. and James Stewart Construction Co. From Portland he went to Fresno.

In 1915 Mr. Beran came to Los Angeles county and supervised the outer harbor warehouse for the Merchants' Realty Co. of Los Angeles until 1917. During the war he was cantonment inspector in California under the direction of the quartermaster's department. When the war ended he started a business in Long Beach in 1919 and in 1921 established his office at 305 South Brand boulevard.

Mr. Beran is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Methodist Episcopal church and the Glendale Lions club, of which he is a charter member. He married Miss Evalyn Harris of Fresno on November 18, 1914. They have two sons, Sidney John and Douglas Adelbert.

Mr. Beran built new offices for his company at 213¼ South Brand boulevard, as his business required larger quarters. He has planned several homes and business buildings to be built in and around Glendale. Among the latest business buildings built by Mr. Beran are the O. M. Newby block, Central at Broadway, and the P. Fisher building, Glendale avenue at Elk. He has been very active for the betterment of east Glendale, where his home is located.

"Let us build up what business streets we have at the present and not zone any more residential property for business," Mr. Beran said in regard to the future policy of Glendale. "Let us establish setback lines on all residential streets 65 feet from the center of the street. Let us hold as many residential sections as possible and make Glendale a city of homes.

"More industries on the west side will be the means of stabilizing business in the entire city. Local business should not try to compete with Los Angeles. Glendale should be a city of homes."

Free passes for one year to every Glendale person who uses to good advantage the cross-word puzzle training of the past six months were offered today by Harry Gerson, manager of a new theatre at South Brand boulevard and Windsor road, now nearing completion.

Gerson has decided upon a name for the theatre. It is a word of five letters and it is not an uncommon one. Guess it, or guess as many as desired. Send the guesses to Gerson at his temporary headquarters, 600 South Brand boulevard. The passes go to every person who hits upon the correct name. The contest closes March 23. When completed the theatre will seat 900 people.

CHEVY CHASE UNIT OPENS WITH BANG

New Subdivision Is Magnet For Sunday Crowds, 20 Per Cent Sold

Over 20 per cent of the entire first unit of Chevy Chase was sold to Glendale people in the first day of the great pre-opening sale of this subdivision, according to a report made last night at the close of the day's activities by Bert Farrar, owner and developer of the property.

From morning until night the new drives in this close-in property were thronged with buyers inspecting this area, opened recently. Results astonished even the most optimistic of the Farrar organization and proved conclusively that the future growth of Glendale is due to continue at a more rapid rate than ever.

Glendale First

The next five days will be devoted to Glendale, it is stated, giving the last opportunity for local people to secure the pick of the first unit. A big advertising campaign to be conducted in the Los Angeles papers will start next Saturday, inviting the attention of the entire Southland. When this campaign starts it is prophesied that hundreds of outside buyers will be attracted to Chevy Chase.

Orders to speed up development work were issued by Farrar last night, as it is felt that the demand for home sites in the property will rapidly exhaust the unit now available. If necessary, a double crew will be employed to open up new roads in advance of the selling organization.

"Low prices and quality are the reasons for this wonderful sale," stated Farrar," and it is our intention to make Chevy Chase the most famous home community in California, as well as the fastest seller," he stated.

ASSOCIATION CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

American Art Urged Here By Speakers At Banquet Saturday Night

"American art should be of America, not merely in America," was the message to Glendale Art association members and friends Saturday night at the association's second birthday banquet at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, from Charles Farwell Edson, native Californian, lover of art, artist, Eisteddfod leader and eloquent speaker.

Other pleas for American art were voiced by Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones, founder and president of Glendale Music club, and George H. Barnes of Los Angeles, president of the American Reforestation association.

"America should found a national institute for American artists," said Mrs. Jones. In closing she expressed the hope that the time would come when the United States would recognize music to such an extent that there will be a secretary of music in the president's cabinet.

Urges Protection

Although an artist and art lover, Mr. Barnes emphasized his talk with countless figures to prove that "nations that have not taken care of trees are nationally impotent." His message for the protection of American forests was brought home forcibly to his audience by his declaration that the United States is second to China in the destruction of trees.

"No nation has ever come back to normalcy when forest destruction has reached the nation's earning capacity, and the United States is getting there fast. What are we going to do about it?" Mr. Barnes asked his hearers as he closed.

During the dinner hour Mrs. Harry MacMullin, talented vocalist, gave a group of songs, with Mrs. Riply accompanying; Mrs. Max Lynn Green, who presided over the drama table, gave two readings; Theodore Kolin, at one time director of the international orchestra in London, played his own arrangement of "Hymn to the Sun" (Rimsky Korsakoff), and an original composition; Keaumoku Louis, baritone, accompanied by Miss Mildred Pray, sang Hawaiian songs; Mrs. Geraldine Jacobi Russell of Burbank, read "If I Were King" and "The Little Black Sheep." Mrs. Louise R. Waite of Hollywood, read an original poem on "Art," dedicated to Mrs. Ballagh.

Reception Held

Very impressive was Handel's "Largo," played on the violin by Christine Edwards, pupil of Calmon Luboviski, as the grace before dinner. Mrs. E. R. Ripley was the accompanist. Miss Edwards' second number was "Waltz in A Minor" (Brahms).

Previous to the banquet an informal reception was held in the reception hall and lounge. Dinner tables filled the banquet hall and Italian tea room. Placecards were cleverly made palettes, the work of Mesdames Bion S. Warner, Claude G. Putnam and Roy A. Ballagh. Tables were arranged for honored guests, presidents of Glendale organizations; the three arts, music, art and drama; and Community Service. Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president of the art association, presided.

Just in front of the honor table was a miniature temple, made by Mrs. Bion S. Warner, to represent a temple for the three arts, the three towers of the temple standing for music, art and drama.

Presiding over the various tables were: John W. Cotton, art table; Mrs. Daniel Campbell, organizations of Glendale; Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Tuesday Afternoon club; Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, music; Mrs. Max Lynn Green, drama; Mrs. Alma J. Danford, library; R. Ernest Tucker, Community Service.

Among those introduced at the various tables were Frank Fox, president of the Kiwanis club; Mrs. Fox and niece, Mrs. Josephine Woolsey, president of the Business and Professional Women's club; Mrs. Grace Chobe, Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, representing the College Women's club; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts of Omar Shrine, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mrs. A. A. Barton, president of the city school board; Mrs. O. H. Spradling president of Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher association; Mrs. J. H. Toal, president of Women's Athletic club; George F. Orgibet, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Orgibet; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Yard of Glendale Welfare Council; Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., Red Cross, and Mr. White; Mrs. Paul Hoffman, president of Madrigal club; Mrs. William MacMullin of Madrigal club, and Mr. MacMullin; Miss Annie L. McIntyre, assistant superintendent of Glendale city schools; Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president Tuesday Afternoon club; George Lyons, president of Community Service; John Cate, representing Rotary club; Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. Alma J. Danford, librarian; C. E. Kimlin, city councilman; H. M. Butts, J. Arthur Myers, Alexander Mitchell, L. T. Rowley, Walter L. Cheever.

Plans for the banquet were made by Mrs. Ballagh, president of the association, assisted by Mesdames Claude G. Putnam, Bion S. Warner, Norman Hunt and Dr. Caroline Paine. John W. Cotton was chairman of art; Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, music, assisted by Mrs. John W. Cotton; Miss Annie L. McIntyre, Walter L. Cheever and Miss Alice Livsey, decorations; Mrs. Daniel Campbell, organizations' table. Mrs. J. S. Armstrong also assisted with the affair.

Further Commercial Aviation

EX-FIGHT CHAMPS TO HELP MOTHERS

Willard, Jeffries Promise To Take Tickets At Vets' Benefit Friday

Jess Willard and James J. Jeffries, former heavyweight champions of the world, are going to do their bit for the American War Mothers' Benefit show by taking tickets at the big performance in the Broadway High school auditorium, Friday night. Such being the case it behooves every good citizen who plans on seeing the show to have a duly authorized pasteboard when he goes through the door.

The show will be staged after vaudeville fashion, opening with a concert by the Elks' band, massed on the stage. Many celebrities will take part, including Louise Dresser, Madge Bellamy, Lew Cody, Tom Mix, Mary McIvor, Albert J. Smith, Rin-Tin-Tin and others. William Desmond will give a one-act dramatic sketch, assisted by two other stars. Special scenery will be brought from the Universal studios for this act so that it will be complete in every detail. Louise Dresser will "tell stories."

Lieut. L. L. Duncan, owner and trainer of Rin-Tin-Tin, will bring the famous dog here and will direct him on the stage that evening in some of his noted picture stunts. Many wonderful acts are on the bill from Glendale talent. The Elks' band, Viola Yorba, in "Bits of Spain," dancers from the Pearl Kellar studios, Keaukomu Louis, Hawaiian singer, the Elite trio of radio fame, an original offering from the Emerson School of Expression, are contributions of Glendale fraternal organizations backing the War Mothers in their effort to raise a fund for greater work among the wounded and disabled war veterans. Reserve seats are selling at Roberts & Echols drug store.

Practical demonstrations of the necessity of airplane landing fields and maps charting these fields were not lacking Saturday when two planes from Glendale bearing Dr. T. C. Young, Alfred Gilhausen, Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Chamber of Commerce and P. M. Connelly of The Evening News staff flew to Ventura.

On the return trip the ship flown by Mr. Gilhausen ran out of gasoline five miles from the Glendale airport. The landing, however, was made perfectly at the airport on a "dry stick.' Only the fact that Mr. Gilhausen was familiar with data concerning the location and wind direction of the airport made it possible to perform this feat, Dr. Young pointed out today.

Ventura Example

Another instance was given at Ventura. Because a map of Ventura county fields was not available the flyers were forced to land at the city of Ventura itself, while had they known data contained on an air map a field ten miles closer their destination could have been used.

Dr. Young said these two experiences stressed the need of a Southern California Aeronautical association which will advocate sufficient landing fields and charts of all fields and air routes of the southland.

CITY DELEGATES FLY TO VENTURA MEETING

Dr. T. C. Young Explains Urgent Need of Commercial Flying Fields at All California Cities In Future

By P. M. CONNELLY
Of The Evening News Staff.

One of the most influential bodies of men and women in California today stands behind Glendale's campaign for the advancement of commercial aviation, as a result of a meeting of Chamber of Commerce secretaries of Southern California, held at Ventura Saturday. At that meeting Dr. T. C. Young and others who have fostered commercial flying in the southwest placed the matter squarely up to the executive heads of the organizations through which they hope to achieve success, and the response and enthusiasm manifested by these men and women exceeded even the expectations of the most optimistic.

Today more than 100 Chamber of Commerce secretaries in cities of Southern California are back at their desks fully "sold" on the project launched by Glendale—an airport for every city and every airport charted and mapped for the convenience and safety of flyers—and 100 secretaries are ready in turn to "sell" the great project to the boards of directors of their respective chambers in probably one of the farthest reaching movement of its kind ever initiated in the history of aviation.

Build on Vision

In the civic, commercial and industrial development of Southern California there is no more potent force than the Chamber of Commerce. The broad and far-seeing vision of these organizations and the men behind them have builded the great Southwestern Empire of today and will build even empires upon empire in the years of the morrow. Realizing full well this fact, aeronautical enthusiasts who dream of 50,000 planes plying these skies, have turned to the Chambers of Commerce and to the men and women who most directly control their destinies, the executive secretaries.

The result has been instantaneous. The ultimate result, however, can only be imagined in the minds of those given to that same broad vision that prompted great achievements of yesteryear.

Travel by Air

It was a memorable day for commercial aviation and for Glendale as well, when one of the largest gatherings of secretaries enthusiastically endorsed this city's air program, comprising the commercial air meet to be staged here on March 14 and 15, and the proposed Southern California Aeronautical association to be formed at a business session of Chamber of Commerec representatives during this meet.

Two Curtiss planes, bearing Dr. Young, famed aviator, Alfred Gilhausen, Glendale boy who has won distinction as a flyer and instructor, Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and this writer, hopped off from Glendale Airport and flew to the meeting of the secretaries. The trip to the northern city, 80 miles distant, was made in a little less than 45 minutes, the ship arriving at the Ventura Airport at 11:30 o'clock. Here the Glendale delegation was met by a number of secretaries headed by Secretary Ed Wiker of Ventura and John P. Phill, president of the Ventura Aeronautical club.

At Country Club.

The Glendalians were taken by motor to the magnificent Ojai Country club, ten miles up the verdant valley from the city of Ventura, where luncheon was served to more than 100 secretaries and their wives and the business session of the organization took place.

The air visitors from Glendale were the main attraction at the dinner, and introduction of the Glendale representatives was followed by a thirty-minute talk by Dr. Young on the advancement of commercial aviation and the Glendale air meet.

Dr. Young told the secretaries that two simple achievements constitute the key that will open the door to sucessful commercial air progress in Southern California and place this state in advance of any other part of the world. The first of these is the designation of landing fields by every city and town in Southern California. This he urged Chambers of Commerce to take up. The second requisite will be the compilation of air maps and data, giving the location, wind directions, etc., of all such landing fields for the information and guidance of the thousands who will use the air for travel, once this mode is made reasonably safe and secure by the establishment of the fields and the issuance of maps, and field information.

Many Will Fly

These two achievements will spell success for commercial aviation in the Southwest, Dr. Young told the secretaries. Once a flyer can go up in the air, knowing that there are ample and conveniently located landing fields, and that he has maps giving him the intelligence of these fields, there will not be a few hundred persons

An Open Letter

To the Public—

We are strongly convinced that the doctors of our city are not properly appreciated. In the event of sickness when we come into intimate contact with them, we are so occupied with our own troubles that we are in no state of mind to give a just estimate of their true worth—and afterwards we forget—sometimes to even pay their bills—and more often to properly value their real services.

Glendale is fortunate in the type of doctors who have located here. We believe we have men and equipment the equal of any in Southern California.

We propose to do our bit to arouse the public to value these public benefactors, these truly big human fellows, at the real worth they are to Glendale. We, therefore, propose to run in this place in this paper a series of advertisements, each one of them touching upon a different phase of professional work. You will find them here on this page each Monday. We want to advise you that not a single doctor in town is contributing anything, directly or indirectly, to these advertisements. They are our own and are paid for by us and are entirely unsolicited in any way. We offer them in the interest of the healing professions—men most worthy of our entire confidence—men who are our first line defense in our hours of mortal illness—men who are our friends indeed because friends in time of need.

Yours sincerely,

R. W. AHLMANN,

Ahlmann Drug Co.

A PLEA ANSWERED

Los Angeles, marvelous as has been her growth and development the past few years, has been greatly handicapped by the quality of the men who have been in charge of her affairs. In very few instances have they been big enough to have a vision of the possibilities and the opportunities afforded by the south. The city has been hampered by small men and politicians and the cry has long been, "Oh, for men big enough to lead Los Angeles to her great destiny."

The future of Glendale and all of Southern California is bound up with that of Los Angeles. The same forces for good or ill affect all parts alike, and the need of Los Angeles for leaders has been the problem of the entire south.

So the announcement of the candidacy of Judge Benjamin Bledsoe for mayor of Los Angeles brings general satisfaction and seems to some to be an answer to the prayer for men. Judge Bledsoe's candidacy can be looked upon in no other light than a desire on his part to render service to his city, for the mayoralty of Los Angeles can bring to this distinguished jurist no honor or emolument as great as that which he now enjoys.

When a man gives up his work and marches away to war, to the music of the band, we call him a patriot. The response to peace-time dangers is not so general or attended with so much honor and acclaim, but this is the truest patriotism.

Many a man has been elected to office in Los Angeles with the noblest motives, but politics has become so entrenched in the city government that unless a man is above the ordinary he is powerless to withstand the pressure of selfish interests and graft.

Judge Bledsoe is not to be considered in the same breath with those who participate in petty politics and the candidates who have withdrawn in his favor have shown their good sense. His election as mayor of Los Angeles will give added impetus to the development of the south.

ENLARGE SCOPE OF FIESTA

Many communities of California are planning to make this a Jubilee year for the state by celebrating the 75th anniversary of the admission of California into the Union. While this state was not admitted until September 9, 1850, since this is the Diamond anniversary of the statehood of California and since the entire year, 1850, was so significant in our history, it has been deemed fitting to make this a Jubilee year rather than merely celebrating Admission day.

The Glendale Evening News has previously suggested that it would be splendid to connect our local fiesta, soon to be held, with the celebrations that will be general in other parts of the state during the coming summer and fall. By being the first to celebrate California's Diamond Jubilee, Glendale would win some distinction.

The purpose of Glendale's fiesta is to acquaint the people of Glendale, themselves, as well as visitors and prospective Glendalians, with the magnitude of our city, its opportunities and possibilities. And, although our fiesta is to serve a purely local purpose, we should have nothing to lose and much to gain by recognizing, in connection with it, an anniversary of such significance in the history of the state, especially since it is being planned to make the fiesta historical in nature. We believe this would be the means of giving Glendale's celebration statewide publicity and making it of statewide importance without adding to its cost.

No doubt the committee which is to meet Tuesday evening to make plans for the Know-Glendale fiesta will give this idea their consideration.

FIGHTING THE BILLBOARDS

Outdoor advertising has its place, yet how fine it would be if there were no signs along the highways but those giving travelers information about the route. The women's clubs of Illinois are engaged in a campaign against the billboards that line the highways of that state, and are endeavoring to restrict them to commercial locations. Prizes are offered for definite accomplishments by individuals or communities in this direction.

California's main attractions are her climate, scenery and roads. But the advertising signs along the highways are growing so numerous as to seriously detract from the pleasure, if not the safety, of the motorist.

The Highway Commission is powerless in the matter except to keep clear the right of way on either side of the pavement. Any law that might be proposed to deal with the situation would involve so many complications and be so strenuously opposed by the outdoor advertising firms, many of which are very strong organizations, that it would be all but impossible to mitigate the evil in this way. The only way to deal with the billboards is to build up public sentiment against them.

BOLSHEVIST LEADERS DISAGREE

The news from Moscow that the break between Leon Trotsky and the Bolshevist leaders is about complete is no surprise to those who have been following the course of events in Russia. Trotsky's offense is now that he is disloyal to Bolshevism, but he has intimated strongly in some of his writings that the leaders with whom he has been associated are not good Bolshevists. He accuses them of timidity, compromise and of shrinking from the logic of their principles and their situation.

For years now the millions of Russia have been controlled by a mere handful, and there has been no hope that these disorganized and unenlightened millions would be able to throw off the yoke. They are as completely in subjection as they were under Czarism. But it is inevitable that in an organization so materialistic and so selfish, jealousies should arise that will lead to its destruction. It would not be surprising if the dismissal of Trotsky from the War Council, the Political Bureau and the Soviet Executive Committee would be the beginning of the end of the Soviet autocracy in Russia.

We might agree to increasing congressmen's salaries if some of them would covenant to quit raising their voices.

Heredity

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There is a good deal of bunkum about heredity. It is an alibi for a good many failures.

Heredity of course is a thing over which we have no control. We cannot pick our fathers and mothers, nor our ancestors. But we can make the most of what we are and have.

That is the problem before us. The wise man exercises his faculties within the gamut that nature has provided for him. He knows his limitations. He knows what he can do and what he cannot do. He does not use what he cannot do as an excuse for not doing what he can do.

There is a legend of Fredin somewhere. He was a man that all his life had to bear about his father's corpse. There is no doubt that we receive our parents' weakness or our forefathers' weakness. But the main thing is that we receive their strength.

Everybody's heredity runs back to God, and most of the incidental evils that he has received from his parents can be overcome by determined effort.

There are few evils in our surroundings that will not give way before a resolute will.

Very often a mother who is about to give birth to a child, or one who has a young child, is distressed over whether or not he will inherit the weaknesses of his father. This is usually a futile worry. As a rule we do not inherit weaknesses. The tendency is for every baby to revert to the status of the original stock. This is called the law of reversion to type.

This is what keeps the world healthy and strong. Not the vagaries of individuals, but stock remains solid.

There is a tendency for every American child of Anglo-Saxon parents to be of the Anglo-Saxon type. There is a tendency also for an American child of Latin parents to be of the Latin type.

The one will probably be sturdy, blond and of large physical frame, while the other will probably be slight, dark and wiry.

But there is as much room for the efforts of one in the world as there is for the efforts of the other.

The world will always need the stolid and vigorous northmen, and it will always need the more volatile southerner. There is plenty of room for both.

Such a thing as a child's inheriting the disease tendencies of his parents, such as drunkenness or addiction to drugs, is rare. His imprint may be that of his remote ancestor, of an uncle or a grandfather, quite as likely as that of his parents.

Our heredity on the whole is something that we must expect unquestionably, and it is up to all of us to make the best of that equipment that has been given us by Nature.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

What is the aim, the purpose, of primary intellectual education? Some of the country's educators appear to differ about it.

Thomas Huxley apprehended that its first object is to train the young in the use of those tools where-with men extract knowledge from the ever-shifting phenomena which passes before their eyes; and that its second object is to inform them of the fundamental laws which have been found by experience to govern the course of things, so that they may not be turned out into the world naked, defenseless, and a prey to the events they might control.

A boy is taught to read his own and other languages, in order that he may have access to infinitely wider stores of knowledge than could ever be opened to him by oral intercourse with his fellow men; he learns to write, that his means of communication with the rest of mankind may be indefinitely enlarged, and that he may record and store up the knowledge he acquires. He is taught elementary mathematics, that he may understand all those relations of number and form upon which the transactions of men, associated in complicated societies, are built, and that he may have some practice in deductive reasoning.

All these operations of reading, writing, and ciphering are intellectual tools, whose use should, before all things, be learned, and learned thoroughly; so that the youth may be enabled to make his life that which it ought to be, a continual progress in learning and wisdom.

* * *

"I suppose that, fifteen hundred years ago, the child of any well-to-do Roman citizen was taught just these things; reading and writing in his own, and, perhaps, the Greek tongue; the elements of mathematics; and the religion, morality, history, and geography current in his time," Huxley wrote. "Furthermore, I do not think I err in affirming that, if such a Christian Roman boy, who had finished his education, could be transplanted into one of our public schools and pass through its course of instruction, he would not meet with a single unfamiliar line of thought; amidst all the new facts he would have to learn, not one would suggest a different mode regarding the universe from that current in his own time."

And yet surely there is one great difference between the civilization of the fourth century, and that of the twentieth, and still more between the intellectual habits and tone of thought of that day and this.

What has made this difference? Huxley answers: "The prodigious development of physical science within the last two centuries."

It is his conclusions that modern livilization rests upon physical science. "For it is physical science only that makes intelligence and moral energy stronger than brute force."

Horoscope

Although Neptune and Mars are in benefic aspect today, according to astrology, it is well to be cautious in all that one does.

This should be an auspicious day for starting on a journey, especially if its aim is a constructive business enterprise.

There should be clear vision regarding important affairs while this rule prevails. It is a favorable time for making positive decisions.

Again the stars presage widespread discussion in regard to military affairs and preparedness will be a topic of much interest.

Courage, energy and ambition should be increased under this rule of the stars which makes for the stimulation of the mental and physical powers.

Surgeons and dentists have the forecast of an unprecedented amount of work.

While this rule prevails educational institutions should benefit for study and research are well directed.

Transportation problems probably will be subjects of great anxiety in many cities which will work out divers methods of dealing with crowds and congested streets.

This is not a very favorable day for seeking employment or for asking for promotion.

Early in the morning there may be a tendency toward impatience and irritability and for this reason employees should be wary of making mistakes.

Many immense enterprises requiring remarkable constructive ability may be expected to mark the year 1925.

While business prosperity is to be prevalent in certain parts of the country it may lag in other regions. But the stars promise much activity in all lines of work.

Persons whose birthdate it is may be annoyed by rather troublesome journeys, but they should benefit in the coming year.

Children born on this day have the augury of happy lives. These subjects of Pisces are usually carefree and not easily bothered.

Today's Poem

WHO IS SYLVIA?

Who is Sylvia? What is she,
That all the swains commend her?
Holy, fair and wise is she;
The heavens such grace did lend her
That she might adored be.

Is she kind, as she is fair?
For beauty lives with kindness.
Love does to her eyes repair
To help him of his blindness—
And, being helped, inhabits there.

Then to Sylvia let us sing
That Sylvia is excelling;
She excels each mortal thing
Upon the earth dwelling.
To her let us garlands bring.

Who's Who

The matter of sanitation presented one of the biggest obstacles in the building of the Panama canal. Fever and other tropical diseases common to the zone workers forced a constant menace. Americans hired for technical duties succumbed early to ills of various kinds due to the climatical conditions, contact with the native workers, etc.

To Maj. Gen. Noble, as chief sanitary officer under Surgeon General Gorgas, fell the task of directing the sanitation work at the canal—an important post.

Now General Noble has joined the retirement list. His work at the canal and in other places won him international fame.

General Noble was born in Georgia in 1870. He received a bachelor's degree from Alabama Polytechnic Institute in 1890 and a master's degree in 1891. In 1899 he was graduated in medicine from Columbian University, now George Washington University. He entered the army as a contract surgeon and went to the sanitary officer under Surgeon-In the World war he was in charge of a hospital division and in 1918 he went overseas as chief surgeon, base section No. 2. He was promoted to major general in 1919.

SCHOOL TEACHERS ARGUE VACATIONS

Glendale Represented At Meeting Held In L. A. Saturday Night

The Glendale Union High school was represented Saturday night by Bert Rolfe, James Clark and Morgan N. Smith, of the mechanical arts department, at a Vocational Teachers' Alumni association, University of California, southern branch. The meeting was held at the Lincoln High school, President Elmer Richardson, former member of the Glendale Union High school faculty, presiding. Morgan N. Smith was president of the association last year.

The program, furnished by members of the Lincoln High school faculty, emphasized the relation of other subjects to vocational work. The following were among those who spoke: Ethel Percy Audrus, principal of the Lincoln High school; Raymond J. Casey, head of the mechanical drawing department, Lincoln High school; Mrs. Muriel Lanz, instructor in oratory and dramatics: Ralph J. Sapper, instructor in science, and J. S. Goldthwaite, head of the mathematics department, Lincoln High school.

Mr. Goldthwaite spoke of the methods employed in teaching mathematics at his school. Mr. Sapper talked of the relation between science and vocational training. Mrs. Lanz developed the idea of this relation as applied to English. Mr. Casey confined his remarks to blueprints and shop sketches, as related to drawing for the building trades.

Pacific Electric Will Aid Rate Adjustment

way Co., with the State Railroad commission.

In presenting the case of his company, Mr. Smith stated plainly that anything within reason would be done to help Glendale out of its present rate situation.

Those in favor of maintaining the present rate argue that Glendale is made up largely of commuters to Los Angeles, and that the commutation rate is satisfactory," he said. "Some merchants argue, too, that they get more business now than they would under a low flat rate to Los Angeles.

"Those in favor of the flat rate argue that the Pacific Electric is handicapped by the present high rate and that the distance to Los Angeles from Brand boulevard and Broadway on completion of the tunnel, will be the same as from Los Angeles to West Hollywood. This we admit. When the tunnel is completed the round trip rate will be lowered to 35 cents."

Mr. Smith declared, in answer to a question by City Manager Stone, that he was unable to say whether or not the Burbank angle of the situation would enter into a possible agreement between Glendale and the Pacific Electric Railway Co. for a reduction of street car rates.

Farm Relief Legislation Is Unlikely Now

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Farm relief legislation by the present Congress appeared impossible today when the Senate agriculture committee refused to accept the co-operative marketing bill passed by the House.

The committee reported out the Capper-Haugen bill which carried the recommendations of President Coolidge's agricultural commission. Even if this bill passed the Senate, it is not expected that an agreement may be reached between the two houses before March 4.

SCIENCE IN DARK ON QUAKE CAUSES

Tremor Which Shook North America Unexplained, Students Admit

NEW YORK, March 2.—Scientists still were unable today to agree upon exactly where originated the subterranean disturbance that shook eastern North America Saturday night from Canada to Florida and even beyond the Mississippi river. Some believed the earthquake was provoked by a shifting of sub-strata rock near the Saguenay river's mouth in Quebec. Others thought they had traced it to a region near the Great Lakes.

Nearly all students of these phenomena were in accord on one thing. That was that it would take considerable time, during which all available records would be studied, to ascertain with any certainty whence came the quake and what happened to cause it.

Cablegrams said the quake was registered in England.

First Principle of Community Growth

The growth and permanent progress of any community is measured by the scope of its commercial activity, by its ability to supply a means of livelihood to those who require it. This would seem to place the responsibility for Glendale's growth upon our mercantile establishments and industries—and they have much to do with our prosperity. But in the end the situation rests with the citizens, for merchants, professional men and women and manufacturers can only prepare to serve you, to furnish you what you require at a reasonable charge, and to furnish employment to a large army of workers. Upon your response to their initiative rests the fate of Glendale. It becomes a patriotic civic duty for the citizen to furnish and to stimulate commercial activity.

The people of Glendale are boosters of the home city. When among strangers they are quick to sing Glendale's praises. Boosting implies pride and loyalty and these qualities naturally compel patronage of the home merchants, since business activity is so desirable and so necessary to community growth.

Deny it as we may, dollars are the foundation of any community, and when we take these dollars away from home we pull out the props from under the community and undermine its prosperity.

Patronizing the business men of other localities while living in Glendale is to diminish the force that keeps Glendale growing and prospering. Persisted in, it will weaken the community structure and eventually react upon the individual who is so careless of his civic duty and responsibility.

The merchandise, service and prices offered the people of Glendale in the home merchandising centers are not such as to justify disloyalty to home institutions. Glendale people, generally, are loyal to home business. But we shall not be content until all the people recognize this important principle of community growth and practice it.

ART CLUB HEARS TALK ON FORESTS

National Expert Tells Of Need For Recovering Denuded Areas

The regular meeting of the Glendale Art association was held yesterday afternoon at the Van Grove studio, 337 North Brand boulevard, Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh presiding. George H. Barnes, president of American association of Reforestation, who addressed the Art association Saturday night on the subject of reforestation, was the speaker, supplementing his first address with additional statistics, relating incidents connected with a three-year fight, conducted personally, to save the trees in the Wilshire district in Los Angeles. He told how to stop the destruction of street trees; how building with substitutes increases in many respects the draft on forest growth; how the argument that forest-destruction has been done for the benefit of agriculture has been disproven; how idle forest land and depleted timber land affects any community; the necessity of growing our own paper pulp; touched on the receding of water in Lake Michigan; water trouble in Chicago and New York due to deforestation; stated that no flood-control made of concrete could prove successful without forest protection back of it; gave figures telling of the destruction of birds; negligible results of reforestation as conducted by the government.

Reforestation

"If we epect to continue as one of the leading nations of the world we must reforest our great denuded acreage," he said. "I have faith in the people of America to believe that, if once they understand, the vital need, reforestation, will be done on a scale of magnificence that will surprise the world. It does not depend on Congress, but on the individual American. When the American people want it, we will get it, and not before."

Malcolm MacLennan spoke of the feasibility of a plan for securing a location for an art temple, and after discussion, a committee composed of Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, Mrs. Alex Mitchell, John W. Cotton and Malcolm MacLennan was appointed to take initial steps in the matter.

Mrs. Ballagh called attention to the exhibit of paintings by John W. Cotton and Walter A. Cheever, in the banquet hall at the Tuesday Afternoon club, which is open to the public every day from 9 to 4 o'clock.

New members recently enrolled in the Art association are J. Stephen Ward, who is holding an exhibit at the Van Grove studio; Barton Mambert, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roake, Mrs. Donald Baxter, Mr. Uman, O. M. Newby and J. I. Hirsch.

SERVICE STATION BUILDS UP TRADE

W. H. Hooper & Co. Founded In 1919; Only Modern Equipment Used

William H. Hooper & Co., in July, 1919, founded what was destined to become one of the finest automobile service stations in Glendale. At 222 East Broadway has been installed every modern piece of equipment that will make for more rapid and efficient handling of automobiles. Big, modern gasoline tanks and pumps which contain only the best grade of well-known brand of gas daily dispense hundreds of gallons to motorists.

Greases and oils of most of the popular, well-known refineries keep scores of bearings running smoothly. The management of the service station is under the direct supervision of William H. Hooper, the proprieter, who had considerable experience in this line before he established the local business.

LOCAL MORTUARY FOUNDED IN 1922

Kiefer & Eyerick Provide Complete Service In Time of Need

E. O. Kiefer and J. M. Eyerick were morticians of long experience and ability when in February, 1922, they founded the firm of Kiefer & Eyerick and established a modern mortuary at 305 East Broadway. Since that time they have been called scores of times to officiate at the last rites of loved ones, and they have won high regard because of the dignified service they have rendered.

A modern hearse is maintained and special automobiles for the use of mourners furnished when desired. The firm takes entire charge of funerals, bowing always, of course, to the wishes and desires of those whom they serve. A beautiful line of caskets is carried in stock in the Kiefer & Eyerick storerooms.

The chapel is quiet and refined, and in that are conducted many funeral services. Attendants are courteous and anxious to aid others in their sorrow.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, March 2.—A larger type of "E" cars will be put into service locally, starting March 8, it is announced by H. H. Maxson, chairman of the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

"Practically all of the older type of cars now in use will be replaced," he adds. The new cars have a seating capacity of fifty-four and are equipped with the most modern electrical facilities which reduce considerably the time lost in stopping and starting.

"The midday headway (time between cars) will be changed from twenty minutes to fifteen minutes into Hawthorne and the Eagle Rock terminal with a seven-and-one-half-minute headway in place of the present ten-minute service on the main line extending from Arbor Vitae station in Inglewood to Avenue 45 on the North. While the schedule headway of the rush hours is practically unchanged additional service is to be provided to protect the "layover" allowed the crews at the terminals and guard against interruptions in the regular spacing of cars.

"The schedule effective March 8 will place a maximum of 56 cars on the "E" line."

The officials of the Eagle Rock Methodist church have announced their desire to sell the church's parsonage on Loy Lane, now occupied by Rev. E. J. Bradner. The reason for this is that it is desired to erect a parsonage on the new church property at the corner of Colorado boulevard and Alverne avenue. The property includes a good, almost new, modern, six-room bungalow.

Mrs. Belle Shoemacher, who recently sold her valuable property on the corner of El Rio and Los Flores avenues and moved to Cypress park district of Los Angeles, realizes that Eagle Rock is the garden spot of the world and has bought a lot on Loy Lane and Ellenwood and is building a home there.

One day last week Mr. and Mrs. Milton Cook, of Chicago; Mrs. E. Cook, of Pontiac, Ill.; Albert Cook, of Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. S. A. Rathbun, of Los Angeles, called on Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Miller of 5125 Rockland avenue, all being former residents of Pontiac, Ill.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, March 2.—Monday morning, March 2, inaugurated clean-up week for Tujunga. Everybody is requested to tidy up their premises, cut weeds and brush, thus doing their bit toward improving the appearance of our community.

The fire warden's office force are cooperating by cleaning vacant lots. A considerable number of lots have been cleared and the brush burned, thus improving the appearance of the place as well as safeguarding adjacent property from fire. Where brush covered lots are a fire menace to neighboring porperty, the fire warden notifies the property owner. If there is no response, the work is done by the county, and the cost charged the same as taxes against the property.

The dinner served by the Brotherhood of the Community Church, was a great success. C. P. White as head chef, with his corps of assistants demonstrated their ability to serve a fine dinner, and were enthusiastically applauded. Members of the brotherhood were costumed to represent colonial gentlemen, namely: George Washington, John Hancock, Daniel Boone and others. Congressman Charles Randall was the main speaker of the evening. Short talks by different members, with music by men's quartette, filled out the program.

Miss Myrtle Meggy, an Australian musician, will give a recital at the Women's club building Wednesday evening, March 4, at 8 o'clock. Miss Meggy has toured England, Scotland and Ireland; also Australia, New Zealand and India, with noted musicians and orchestras. There will be no regular admission charge, but a silver offering will be taken. This will be a great treat for music lovers, and it is hoped there will be a large attendance to greet this talented artist.

Miss Meggy stopped in Tujunga to visit her friend, Miss Townsend, while en route to Minneapolis, from there to England, to fulfill professional engagements.

L. H. Fisher and family are leaving Tujunga for Chicago, where Mr. Fisher will take charge of the Chicago office of the Italian Vineyard Co., of Los Angeles, with which firm he has been connected for a number of years. Mr. Fisher has been active in community affairs, having held the office of secretary, and later president of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Fisher is a member of the Tujunga Woman's club and P.-T. A. They will both be greatly missed in Tujunga.

Motor Car Presented Methodist Preacher

Rev. Maurice M. Johnson, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, South, is the owner of an Overland touring car recently presented to him by members of the church congregation.

LACE IMPORTS

NEW YORK, March 2.—Lace importers are not waiting to make hay while the sun shines. They are making profits while fashion smiles—on laces. The majority of the new silk spring dresses have their beauty enhanced by jabots, collars, cuffs or pockets of lace. Irish laces are especially popular.

It must be remembered, however, that the contempt of the people for politicians is heartily reciprocated.

TAKES DRUDGERY FROM HOUSEWORK

Good Housekeeping Shop Has Appliances For Home To Help Women

Removing the drudgery from housework is the continual job of G. E. Schoberlin, manager of the Good Housekeeping Shop located at 140 South Brand boulevard. Established in April, 1923, the company has installed its Easy vacuum electric washing machines, its vacuum cleaners, its floor lamps and its hundreds of other electrical household appliances in scores of Glendale homes.

The company assumed at the start the policy of giving big values for the money it received for its merchandise. It has adhered to that policy in nearly two years of business, and as a result today it is one of the most largely patronized electrical supply houses in the San Fernando valley.

All of the merchandise is well displayed in a neat, dignified store, where employes are always courteous.

Women's Society Plans Church Meet Tomorrow

The Women's Relief society of the Latter Day Saints church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Hill at 336 West Eulalia avenue. Mrs Beatrice Lloyd will have charge of the theology lesson. After the study period a social time with the serving of refreshments will be enjoyed.

Still, the man who tells his wife everything may be trying to tempt her to exchange confidences.

RADIO PROGRAM BY AUTO DEALERS

Concert Will Be Broadcasted Tonight From KHJ From 7 to 8 o'Clock

In anticipation of Glendale's first automobile show to be staged here from March 7 to 14, a radio program under the auspices of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association will be broadcast over KHJ between 7 and 8 o'clock tonight. A list of popular artists will entertain listeners-in during the hour that Glendale is on the air.

The Titian Stringed Trio managed by Winifred Schutten will headline the bill. Albert Bryant, Glendale tenor, will sing a group of songs while Les Roscoe will render several piano numbers. Others on the program will be Hatch Graham in banjo and song selection, Lewis F. Klein on the harmonica and auto-harp and Mackie Queen's Hawaiians.

The program has been arranged by Lyman P. Clark, president of the Motor Car dealers, and Gould H. Warren, radio committee chairman of the Chamber of Commerce. Announcement of Glendale's commercial aviation meet will be made over the ether waves by Mr. Warren during the program tonight.

U. S. COTTON

WASHINGTON, March 2.—America's pre-eminence as the world's greatest producer of cotton is not seriously threatened by the efforts being made by Great Britain, through subsidies and other methods of domestic encouragement, to make the empire independent of American production, the Federal Trade commission reported to Congress.

LIFE'S MINOR COLLISIONS

Last year in the gaining series I got many reports from the T. T. T.'s that this article on "Life's Minor Collisions" was helpful. So here it is again for you who are trying to gain this year.

Life's minor collisions—what a series of pictures that brings up! There are none who escape them. Happily, the most of us give them only the attention they merit and soon forget them. Today I am going to apply my text to the underweight persons who have appealed to me to help them to gain. It has been my observation that they react too profoundly to these collisions and in so doing use up very much of their energy which they should be keeping for more worthwhile purposes.

Mental emotions of a painful nature, even though minor, are not conducive to good circulation, good respiration or good digestion, and the gaining of weight waits on both.

This is not a contradiction of what I said before when I told you to eat whether you wanted to or not; for I told you then that undoubtedly your digestion would be improved if you enjoyed your food, but that your food would digest anyway, the larger part of it. I repeat that emphatically now. If you wait for a good appetite you will continue to be thin, for it will never come unless you go after it.

Now, back to collisions. I shall switch now and call them "trivial annoyances," for I want to use Elbert Hubbard's quotation about them. I love it. For years I had it pinned on my mirror—where I could see it frequently—until it became yellow with age and frequent dustings, and when it was lost I felt as though I had lost a personal friend. It is this:

"You had better learn to accept the trivial annoyances and small misfits of life as a matter of course. To give them attention beyond their deserts is to wear the web of your life to the warp."

Notice that Hubbard did not say you should not give the trivial annoyances any attention. To give them attention beyond their deserts is the offense.

We can be helped if we will remember that perhaps every day something may happen that we do not like, and that everyone has the same experiences. Let us start out every day with this resolve:

Daily Resolve

I shall not give those things which may annoy me today any more attention than they deserve. I shall cease thinking of these annoyances when I have thought enough about them to get the lesson they teach.

I realize that very often I am annoyed because of some fault of my own. I am irritating and give offense and I get it back in good measure. Now when this happens and I am annoyed I shall say: "I brought this upon myself. I see where I made my mistake. I shall not repeat it, for it is not the making of a mistake that is wrong, but the repetition of it. Now I have given you all the attention you deserve, mistake. Goodbye, disagreeable emotion that you have aroused, goodbye forever."

If it happens that I am annoyed and it is not my fault I shall say: "Well, I couldn't help that. It was not my fault. What's the use of worrying over something that is not my fault? Goodbye, worry, goodbye forever!"

If these annoyances bob up again in my mind I shall say: "Here, you annoyances, what are you doing in my mind? I have given you all of the attention you deserve and I have learned my lesson from you. Avaunt! Depart! Get out!"

You will do that? It can be done, I know. Try it and report results to me, will you?

I have something more for you tomorrow. Tell your F. F. F. friends to read it, too.

Tomorrow—KYMS

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them lexibly with ink Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.a.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Beef-Bean Casserole—Soak one pint of dried Lima beans over night and in the morning drain, cover with fresh boiling water, add a pinch of baking soda and boil for 15 minutes. Now again drain the beans and set them aside to add later to the casserole. Brown one pound of stew beef (either from the round or chuck cut in cubes, in two tablespoons of bacon fat or beef drippings with two large sliced onions. When the meat pieces are seared on all sides, and the onions a light brown, begin to fill your casserole as follows: Put in a layer of the meat cubes, then a layer of the parboiled beans, followed by a layer of canned tomatoes; season all generously with salt and pepper and repeat these layers till the meat and beans are used (and about two cups of the more solid parts of the canned tomatoes). Sprinkle two tablespoons of flour over all, and add one cup of the liquid from the tomato-can. Bake for two and one-half hours in a slow oven, adding a little boiling water from time to time if it becomes very dry. Serve from the same dish.

Suet Pudding—Mix together one cup of granulated sugar, one scant cup of finely-chopped suet, and two cups of flour sifted with one teaspoon of soda and one-half teaspoon of salt. Take still another cup of flour and mix it with one cup of either seeded raisins, or finely-chopped figs, also adding two teaspoons of ground cinnamon, one teaspoon of ground cloves and a pinch of grated nutmeg. Add this floured and spiced fruit to the first mixture, then turn all into a well-greased and floured baking powder can, filling the mould only three-fourths full (use two cans if necessary). Put on tight-fitting cover and weight down the can in boiling water which reaches to its lid, letting this water continue to boil around it for three hours. Serve with an ordinary hard sauce. (Note—If you prefer to use one cup of stoned and chopped dates rather than the cupful of raisins or figs, omit the spices, but add one-fourth cup of chopped, candied orange peel).

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

FOR CAR OWNERS

Several readers have asked me to repeat some advice I gave about keeping the hands neat when driving or caring for a car. That was several months ago; in fact, it was while the weather was still warm enough to make fussing over a motor car out-of-doors in the sunshine, something pleasant rather than disagreeable. One woman said she kept the Chats for reference in one of the pockets of the car.

There is nothing very difficult to learn. The whole idea is to fill the pores of the skin so full of thick, clean grease before washing or cleaning that the black grease cannot penetrate, or, if it does, it washes off at once with soap and water. I take care of my own little car in the summer, and thousands of other women do the same these days. I made up my own equipment, which I suppose is what everyone uses—a stiff, round brush on a handle for wheels and under frame work, a collection of rags and a sponge and chamois for body, furniture cream for leather upholstery, an old jack knife for digging nails and stone splinters out of tires.

I have three sets of gloves, an old leather pair that fits, which I slip on for such comparatively clean jobs as dusting, cleaning and filling up slits in tires. I rub my hands with lard and put on rubber gloves before washing the car. I use the leather ones for cleaning spark plugs and such work, and for really greasy work, buy and, if necessary, throw away later (or boil out with soap) canvas gloves at 10 cents each. Some delicate jobs cannot be undertaken except with the bare fingers; but, before starting, I soak my hands in thick petroleum jelly, rubbing it under and around the nails. I always have managed to keep my hands nice in spite of tinkering, except during the weeks a mechanic taught me how to tinker. Fear of his superior comments was the only reason I didn't try then, and it was two weeks before I had soaked out all the stains and dirt I acquired.

Louise J. S.:—You are fortunate in not having blackheads form as there is always the danger of enlarged pores. Be sure to keep any impact from forming in these open pores while you are trying to contract them. Try ice rubs, or a simple astringent, such as witch hazel, or a few drops of benzoin in a pint of water. Use any of these solutions after cleansing the skin either with cream or soap and warm water. It will take a long time to refine the skin's texture after the pores have become distended, but persistent effort will give you the results after a time.

DARKENED WINDOWS

By CORNELIA KANE RATHBONE

Copyright, D. Appleton & Co. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate

"Can you explain how that blood-stain came on your sleeve?" demanded Breitman.

Evadne shook her head mutely. Graham could hear her breath coming in frightened gasps. He drew forward a chair, its back turned to the stark figure whose presence cast a chill of horror over the room, and forced her gently down into it.

"The old man is mad; of course nobody believes him," he whispered.

Evadne shook her head helplessly. "He's not mad; he's clever, uncannily clever; I'm afraid of him; he will ruin me if he can."

"Nonsense!" Graham tried to speak lightly, but he saw that he had failed to impress her. Her eyes followed Denis who had fallen on his knees by the side of Hannibal Hurst's chair. His lips were moving silently as if in prayer.

Flint, meanwhile, like a hound on the scent, was exploring the room, subjecting it to a meticulous scrutiny. Before one of the bookcases which lined the walls, he stopped suddenly and went down on one knee, the better to examine something which had caught his eye.

Curious to see what it was which interested him, Graham crossed the room to where he knelt. A section of the shallow bookcase was swinging open and Flint was peering into a small steel safe sunk in the wall.

"This was open," said Flint looking up at Graham. "It has not been tampered with; it was opened by some one who knew the combination."

"Nobody knew it but just the master and the master's wife," proffered Denis, roused from his prayers.

"And his daughter," came faintly from Evadne.

"Mabye she knew it what time she had her rights in the house, but it's little likely she is to know it now," Denis retorted. "If it's asking me you are, sir, I'd say that the hand that could kill could steal."

"I'm not asking you," observed Flint quietly.

"Asking or no asking," persisted Denis, "'tis the wise man would be looking to see what might be in the bag the mistress is holding so tight."

"I have nothing in it that isn't my own," protested Evadne nervously.

"Then you won't object to my opening it," said Inspector Breitman in a tone of ironical politeness for which Graham longed to knock him down.

"I do object. You have no right to touch by personal property," contended Evadne indignantly.

"If you refuse you'll make me think you have something in it to conceal, and as I am investigating this case that will give me the right."

"Let him have it—you must," whispered Graham.

The girl looked at him in mute protest, but made no resistance when he took the bag from her hand and gave it to Breitman. It was a dainty thing of delicately colored silk, beaded in silver, expressive, it seemed to Graham, of Evadne's exquisite personality. It gave him a feeling of almost physical pain to see Breitman's thick, stubby fingers pulling at its silken cords and drawing out, one by one, each article it contained—a handkerchief marked E. H.—the perplexing initials of the lost note, a pair of gloves; a slender purse of netted gold, an oddly empty purse for the wife of Hannibal Hurst; and then something which Breitman did not lay on the table with the other articles, but held aloft triumphantly in his stubby fingers—a glittering diamond necklace.

"Is this where you carry your jewels!" he asked, in a tone which made Graham's fingers tingle to be at his throat.

"Sometimes, as you see," Evadne answered with a transient show of spirit.

"Where are they usually kept?"

"In the safe."

"You have access to the safe at all times? You know the combination?"

"Yes."

"When did you take the necklace out of the safe?"

She hesitated, then said quickly: "This afternoon."

"Begging your pardon, sir, but the necklace was not in the safe this afternoon," broke in Denis. "Mr. Hurst had had it at the jeweler's to be looked over. With my two eyes I saw him putting it in the safe not ten minutes before he went out to dinner, sir."

"It was just before he left, then, that Mrs. Hurst came to get the necklace?"

"It was not, sir, not just before nor yet just after, for 'twas myself was there till after 8 o'clock putting the room to rights."

Graham had a suffocating sense of toils closing in—closing in. That they were closing in around Evadne and not himself only made it the more terrible.

"So, till after 8 o'clock, to your positive knowledge, the necklace was locked up in the safe?" questioned Breitman, casting a glance of odious satisfaction at Flint.

"It was, sir, the clock struck 8 before I left the room," Denis answered.

"Why should this man's word be taken before Mrs. Hurst's?" demanded Graham hotly.

"If there is anything Mrs. Hurst wishes to say I shall be glad to listen to her," returned Breitman.

Graham turned an imploring look on Evadne, but she only shook her head helplessly.

The inspector waited for a moment, watching her. Before he could speak again Flint broke in with a question of his own.

"You say you stayed till after 8 o'clock putting the room in order," he said to Denis. "Now would you consider a room in order if you left a lady's glove lying in plain sight on the floor?"

"I would not, sir."

Flint smiled and pointed toward a large sofa which stood at the far end of the room near the safe. In front of it, startlingly white on the deep red of the rug, lay a lady's long, suede glove.

Nodding to Flint, the inspector walked heavily across the room, picked up the glove and returning handed it to Evadne.

"This would seem to indicate that you were in the room after 8 o'clock, Mrs. Hurst," he remarked.

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterruptedly.

UNCLE WIGGILY

UNCLE WIGGILY BLOWS AWAY

"What's that strange noise?" asked Uncle Wiggily of Nurse Jane one day as they sat in the hollow stump bungalow.

"That is the March wind howling and blowing down the chimney," said the muskrat lady housekeeper. "The wind is very strong today."

The rabbit gentleman gave a quick little twinkle to his pink nose and then picked up his hat and umbrella.

"Where are you going?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"I am going out to see how strong the March wind is," answered Mr. Longears. "You say it is blowing strong—I want to see it for myself!"

"You'll blow away if you go out—especialy with an umbrella!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "Please stay at home."

But Uncle Wiggily wouldn't, and out he started, while the March wind howled louder than ever down the chimney of the hollow stump bungalow. Seeing that the rabbit had made up his mind, Nurse Jane cried:

"Well, go out if you will, but at least leave your umbrella at home. You won't need that, and if you carry it you surely will be blown away."

"Nonsense!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I need my umbrella. It might rain while I am out looking at the March wind, and, also, while I am seeking an adventure." And nothing Nurse Jane could say would make him leave the umbrella in the house.

Out into the blowing wind wind hopped the bunny. At first he didn't mind it very much, but, as he went along, the breeze became more and more strong, until, all of a sudden, there came such a heavy puff that it blew open the bunny's umbrella.

"Here, Wind! What are you trying to do?" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Whew! Whew! Whew! whistled the March wind, and it blew harder on the bunny's umbrella until it opened it out wide. And, as Uncle Wiggily kept a tight hold of the handle, he went up in the air with his rain-shield and was blown away.

High and far the bunny was blown by the March wind, but he wasn't at all afraid.

"I am having a fine sail!" cried the rabbit gentleman. But, all of a sudden, the wind didn't blow quite so hard, and Mr. Longears began to settle down. He was right over a patch of woods when he began to fall gently, and when he came down, what was his surprise to find himself in front of the den of the Fuzzy Fox.

"Oh, ho! and oh, ha!" barked the Fox, wagging his big, dusting brush of a tail. "I was just thinking of going out to find you, Uncle Wiggily, but here you come to me. How come?"

"The March wind blew me away and then it stopped blowing and left me here," sadly said Uncle Wiggily. "I am sorry!"

"Well, I'm not! I'm glad!" laughed the Fox. "I have been wanting to nibble your ears a long time, and now is my chance!"

Uncle Wiggily held his open umbrella over his head, hoping, in this way, to keep the Fox from getting at his ears. But the bad chap grabbed the umbrella away, most impolitely, taking it rudely by the handle.

And then, all of a sudden, while the Fox held Uncle Wiggily's umbrella, the March wind laughed, shouted and howled with glee. And, getting under the open umbrella, the wind lifted it up, and also lifted the Fox up, and blew him far, far away, over the top of the mountain.

"Ha, Ha! There you go! Goodbye!" cried Uncle Wiggily, who was left safely on the ground, for he got behind a rock, where the wind couldn't blow him. "I hope you enjoy your trip, Mr. Fox. Keep my umbrella as long as you like."

And it was nearly a week before the Fox got back home, so far away was he blown. But, if the kitchen table doesn't turn over on its back and try to walk along the ceiling like a fly, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the early bird.

PLAN APARTMENT STRUCTURE HERE

System Construction Co. To Erect Building; Cost Is Set At $85,000

A modern apartment and store building to cost $85,000 will be constructed on North Central avenue within the near future by the System Construction Co., 105½ North Central avenue, it has been announced by Victor Robinson, manager. The building will contain forty-two apartments, three stores and a big commercial garage. Offices of the System Construction Co. will be located there, also. Another four-story building containing apartments and stores is also contemplated on Central avenue by this company, organized in October, 1922.

At the present time a modern apartment court is under construction, and more than $500,000 of construction work is ready to be started.

When first launched, the company was located at 1320 Grand View avenue, but the rapid expansion of business made it necessary to transfer activities to the new office more than two months ago.

Civilization has reached the point where almost any barber can bob a woman's hair without feeling self-conscious.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Political prognostications are nothing more or less than guesses, but an observer with friends throughout the entire state has some wonderful possibilities to consider in the campaign eighteen months hence. Particularly is this true of the gubernatorial situation.

At Sacramento the writer finds Governor Richardson busy "sawing wood" and not a thing to say for himself as to the political future. He is looking at the field gathering for the race and suggests it is something to write about.

Emery Martindale, Los Angeles lawyer, already has tossed his hat in the ring on an ultra-conservative platform. So much for that. Others being groomed for candidacies included Will Woods, state superintendent of public instruction; Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young; Ray L. Riley, state controller, all of whom are keeping in close touch with political affairs.

In Los Angeles it is said Federal Judge Benjamin Bledsoe is taking the mayoralty candidacy only as a stepping stone to the governor's chair. Of course, he may be expected to run on the Democratic ticket. Internal Revenue Collector Rex Goodcell, also, has ambitions and he will run on the Republican ticket, if there are not too many names submitted.

But listen to what a friend from the middle of the state tells me. John R. Quinn, a former national commander of the American Legion, known as a Democrat, will likely by the strongest contender in the gubernatorial race. He is 34 years old, active vice-president of a Los Angeles bank, and Kern county rancher. Strange to say he is being urged to run on the Republican ticket!

Candidates for governor are almost as numerous as potential timber for Glendale's City Council it would seem.

Now for a little gossip about he senatorial race in which Conressman Walter Lineberger has hrown his hat in the ring. He will oppose Senator Sam Shortridge, one of the most popular Republicans in the state, whose record in the national Congress is rated as "excellent" by observers. And the winner of the primary tilt will likely have former Senator James D. Phelan as an opponent on the Democratic ticket unless we are badly mistaken.

One cannot believe the rumors hat Governor Richardson will make a race for the Senate, but Judge Bledsoe might. Again, John R. Quinn might be induced to oppose Lineberger as the former service man's candidate. At any rate, if the judge is seeking high political honors he must work fast as he is the elder of the pair. Quinn can wait.

It is quite an accepted fact that Frank F. Merriam, speaker of the Assembly, is the logical and probable candidate for lieutenant governor next year to oppose Young, should he desire to remain in that office, and to succeed him in case the latter runs for governor.

Quite a number of councilmanic candidates from Los Angeles are to be found in the lobbies of the state house, by the way. The writer naively asked one if politics paid and, surprising as it may seem, he declared, "I haven't made anything out of it in twelve years."

This in face of rumors about graft, extortion and corruption. Most of the reports you read, scandalous as they appear in print, are mere blah! If the politicians only could get some REAL MONEY once in their lives they likely would retire without being voted out of office.

LUMBER CONCERN HERE SINCE 1914

John Bentley Established Company; Carry Large Stock From Mills

Millions of board feet of lumber and hundreds of carloads of building materials of all descriptions have been shipped into and sold in Glendale by the Bentley Lumber Co., 460 West Los Feliz road, since John Bentley, in January, 1914, founded the institution.

Today the company's plant covers a large area of ground and in its warehouses are stored mill work, cement, shingles, lath, products gathered from almost every part of the American continent. Hard woods are also carried in stock for flooring and for building of fixtures. Good firm lumber, without knots is kept in such condition that it cannot warp and buckle. Coupled with prices that are fair, the company's yard has been kept active by satisfied customers.

Preparing for a greater building activity in Glendale during the next year Bentley now is expanding his stock to care for increased trade.

STATEMENT GIVES LARGE INCREASE

Golden State Building and Loan Co. Specializes In Helping Builders

LARGE BUILDING PROJECT PLANNED

L. H. Wilson Realty Co. Has Program Outlined For Coming Season

A number of big building projects on which several hundred thousand dollars will be expended are contemplated for the 1925 season by the L. H. Wilson Realty Co., 1034 San Fernando road. Several important construction jobs are already under way.

Associated with L. H. Wilson in the company is W. T. Burton, formerly in business here for himself under the firm name of Burton Realty Co. The company handles large real estate leases and transfers and is also engaged in some big financing enterprises. Its building program, however, is held of paramount importance to Glendale this year.

Long and careful study of business conditions and a well-founded knowledge of real estate values in Glendale makes the advice of members of this organization valuable to the prospective investors who are its clients.

TOMMY MILTON WINNER OF RACE

Averages 126.88 Miles Per Hour; Hartz' Skid Costs Him Second Place

SPEEDWAY RESULTS

Tommy Milton, Miller Special, first.
Peter De Paolo, Duesenberg, second.
Bob McDonogh, Miller Special, third.
Harry Hartz, Miller Special, fourth.
Peter Kreis, Duesenberg, fifth.
Pietro Bordino, Fiat Special, sixth.
Earl Cooper, Miller Special, seventh.
Dave Lewis, Miller Special, eighth.
R. Johnson, Johnson Special, ninth.

When nine of the twenty cars which started in the 250-mile race at the Culver City Speedway yesterday afternoon, crossed the finish line, Tommy Milton, the grand old man of the board track, was out in front. His time was 1 hour, 58 minutes and 13 seconds, or an average of 126.88 miles an hour, a new world's record for the 250-mile classic.

Harry Hartz, in second place until the 193rd lap, proved himself a past master at driving when he brought his swirling, skidding mount to the concrete apron after spinning around several times, landing right side up at the bottom of the track. Hartz and his pit men straightened out the car, and he finished amid the cheers of the thousands who saw the race.

Skid Cost $3000

The accident cost Hartz $3000 in prize money, for he was in second place before the skid started, but did not have enough lappage to hold his position when he went back into the race. Peter de Paolo moved up into second place, Bob McDonogh went into third place and Hartz finished fourth, his share of the prize money being $2000 instead of $5000 he would have drawn for second place.

Tire changes were frequent during the race. Milton, who took the lead in the second lap from DePalma, only to lose it to Duray at the fifty-five-mile mark when he went to the pits for a tire change. Duray gained a lap and a half on Milton, but when the speed king got back into the race he fairly burned up the boards to take the lead at the seventy-five-mile mark.

BASEBALL

Ken Parker and his new Burbank team had everything their own way yesterday when they beat the William Lane outfit 17 to 1. Parker allowed only two hits, both coming in the ninth. Colvard walked seven times in succession. It was William Lane's first defeat in nineteen games.

It took 15 innings to decide the A. J. Bayer Co.-Gilmore Oilers game Saturday, Bayer winning, 8 to 7. Huffaker pitched for the winners, with Mike File doing the hurling for the losers.

San Fernando defeated Van Nuys, 17 to 10, in a swatfest yesterday, at Van Nuys. Heidler, Bravo, Dancer and Phipps collected homers.

The Pacific Electrics defeated E. M. Smith Co., 9 to 6 at Ross Snyder field yesterday. Fitzgerald aided the trolleymen by getting a homer and a triple.

Twenty-two runs were scored in the eighth inning of a game played yesterday at Huntington Park between the Pioneer Trucks and Spartan All-Stars. The truckmen won, 33 to 15, getting sixteen runs in the eighth while the losers collected six. Reports indicate the contest was not a pitchers' duel, but more on the order of catch-as-catch-can.

This Is Year of 'Big Comeback'

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News.

Waiting for the 1925 bell to ring are several former big league ball players who hope to make the coming season the year of the "big comeback." Some of these men are Elmer Smith, Walter Mails, Vean Gregg, Dana Fillingim and Ralph Shinners.

Much has been written about one of them—Vean Gregg—since the world's champions signed the veteran southpaw. Less has been said, however, about the others who will seek to win a new smile from Dame Fortune.

Five years ago Elmer Smith held the center of the baseball world when he socked out a home run with the bases full in one game of the world's series between the Cleveland Indians and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

His terrific hitting kept him in the majors several years despite a disposition that made him a hard man to handle. He served with four big league clubs before being dropped to Louisville last season—the Indians, Athletics, Red Sox and Yanks.

Leads A. A. Sluggers

Finding himself outside the big gate last year he settled down to win his way back. He not only hit for an average of .334 with the Colonels, but led the American association in home runs with 28.

Walter Mails' efforts to hold a major league berth are quite generally known. The Dodgers gave him a trial in 1916. He helped win the flag that year, but they let him go in midseason, 1917, gladly accepting the waiver price for him from the Pirates. The Buccaneers sent him to Portland quite pronto.

In the closing weeks of 1920 the Indians saw the pennant within their grasp. Their weakness lay in their pitching staff. Came the opportunity to grab Mails from Sacramento. He won something like six out of seven starts and virtually carried the Indians to the flag.

His future seemed assured. However, the opposing teams found one of his weaknesses the next season—his inability to stand "the gaff." The Indian bosses discovered another weakness later—his inability to hold to training rules. He drifted back to the coast.

Then There Is Dan

Dan Fillingim seems an old pitcher in point of years, but his career in the big show has been comparatively short. The Athletics tried him out in 1915. The Indians looked him over the next year and then he spent a year in the minors before the Braves acquired him from Indianapolis in 1918.

It took Dana three years to find himself, but in 1921 he proved to be one of the most effective pitchers in the National league. The next year, however, he lost something like 20 games. Two years ago he won only one game, and last year was sent to the minors. Now he returns to the majors for a chance with the Phillies.

Fillingim is one of the few remaining spitball pitchers eligible to work in the big show. When his spitter is under control it is a whiz.

The case of Ralph Shinners is entirely different from that of the other comeback hopefuls.

Shinners joined the Giants from Indianapolis late in 1921. The Giants paid a neat sum for him. He seemed destined to take his place as a regular in the Giant outfield after a short course of bench training. He did start his first season with the team at center. He was hitting the required .300 and fielding brilliantly when, in May, he was struck on the head by a pitched ball. George Smith of the Phillies was the pitcher.

The blow at first affected Shinner's vision. After he had recovered his clear sight he had to fight "ball shyness." He was finally sent to Toledo. His work there last season indicated he has regained his nerve. The Cardinals caught him in the draft and that's where he'll try to come back the coming season.

RULING ON LETTER

BERKELEY, Cal., March 2.—Helen Wills, national and Olympic tennis champion, has been denied the honor of wearing the University of California "big C" following announcement of a new amendment adopted by the Big C Athletic society, making it impossible for any woman to gain a "big C." Miss Wills would have been the first woman to receive the honor and there was much sentiment in her favor.

COOPER INJURED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—"Lefty" Cooper, San Francisco welterweight boxer, will not be able to box for quite a stretch owing to a severely wrenched knee sustained in a bout here last Friday with Joe Simonich, according to Dr. J. G. Brady, his physician, today.

The modern woman's mind isn't mathematical, but she is developing a remarkable skill in triggernometry.

GLENDALE CASEYS WIN FINAL GAME

Defeat Los Angeles Council 5 to 2 As Season's Schedule Ends

The Glendale Caseys closed the season's schedule with another win, defeating the Los Angeles council, 5 to 2 at Glendale, yesterday afternoon. The victory made eleven straight for the locals, including the state championship game won from Oakland.

O'Shea, third baseman for the local Caseys, and Myers, catcher, played their last game with the team. O'Shea leaves tonight to join the Seattle Inidans, and Myers goes to Texas to join the Omaha Western league club. O'Shea celebrated the fact by rapping out two doubles and Myers collected a single.

McDonald pitched for the Glendale team and allowed eight hits. Allen, opposing pitcher, was touched for sixteen hits. Dunn got a home run. The strikeout honors were even, each getting seven. Cozington, Manush, Cryan and Seiser hit well for the winners. The score:

DYNAMITERS TO MEET OXY FROSH

Local Track Team to Invade Patterson Field For Contest Tomorrow

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

The mettle of the spikes of the Glendale tracksters will be given an extreme test tomorrow when Coach Hayhurst's Dynamite team tangles with the Oxy Frosh outfit on the latter's field. As the Frosh have a fairly strong team the local boys will have their hands full if they expect to win or even run the Tigers close.

Hayhurst's bunch started the season with a bang last Friday when it took the Citrus spike men oown the line, 91-25 Glendale showed great power in the weight events, in the sprints, and in some of the longer runs. Although the locals are not conceded a whale of a chance to beat the Frosh they will undoubtedly make a worth while showing against the college pea-greens.

High School Baseball Season Opens Tuesday

The Glendale Dynamiters will open the baseball season in high school circles tomorrow, when the Franklin team will meet the locals at Broadway field. Thursday afternoon the Dynamiters will journey over to Los Angeles to meet the Franklin Printers on their home grounds.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

OGDEN, Utah, March 2.—(En route to California).—Salt Lake City, long the storm center of the Pacific Coast league, is all set to demonstrate again this season its specialty of jazzing up the batting records of hitherto mediocre batters.

Players who never hit anything in their lives go to Salt Lake City and knock the ball so hard that it floats away into space and falls on some poor neighboring planet to mystify the natives. The only trouble about these Salt Lake phenoms is that they usually leave their batting power right here in the Rockies when they are called on to bigger leagues.

Natives of Salt Lake City admit this, but they declare they can't be blamed if the ball players are not able to take the invigorating Salt Lake climate with them when they leave.

Paul Stand is one of the outstanding examples of what Salt Lake City can do for a batter. He hit so wonderfully that Connie Mack travelled all the way from Philadelphia to see him perform, and then signed him up for the Athletics. The cautious Mr. Mack has been lamenting ever since the impulse that led him to surrender railroad fare to come out and see the great illusion. For Strand had no sooner hit the American league than the canny pitchers of that circuit got his number and began to pitch them where Strand could not see them. His batting average dwindled away to a shadow.

There was a time in the latter part of 1924 when it looked as if Sale Lake City would have no coast league team this season to turn out hitting wonders. Bill Lane, owner of the Salt Lake club, said that while the climate made batting averages go up, it made turnstile averages go down. Unable to stand—or understand—such queer concatenation of events, he felt it incumbent upon him to go over to California and buy a club nearer the ocean level.

The citizens told him to mosey along, for they would take care of the old ball club themselves—and so they have. Vernon will open the season at Salt Lake City April 7, while Salt Lake City will finish at Sacramento October 18. In between, the base-hit factory of the Rockies will operate at 100 per cent of capacity, and that is a good thing. The coast league would not have seemed the same without it.

A lot of hopeful ball players who adorned the east last season have come—or are coming—over the great divide not to return. At least not for the season of 1925.

Sterling Stryker, the huge pitcher of the Boston Nationals, is one of them. He is plodding toward Seattle where he will pay part of the price for Welch. Charley Dooin, the old Philadelphia catcher, says Stryker has the widest curve of any kid pitcher he ever saw. It certainly is wide enough, but its wideness is exceeded by its wildness, and so he is going back to the minors for the second time. New York had him and let him go. Then Boston grabbed him—and let him go. But if ever Stryker gets control of that curve of his, watch out.

Yeargen is another Boston National who has been given a one-way ticket to the coast. A clever kid, who seemed always on the point of breaking into the elite, but never quite made it. He has a good chance to grow up out here in the west.

Brooklyn has sent pitcher Decatur to Portland, Oregon. Uncle Robbie tried him several times last season, but the final verdict was that he was too wild and needed the air. Jones, the former Portland shortstop, also goes back to Portland from Brooklyn. His holdout on Brooklyn was not a good investment, even if he did get quite a little vacation out of it.

The Cubs have placed Elliott, the first baseman, with Seattle. Cincinnati has landed Sanberg, the catcher, in Los Angeles. Branch Rickey has sent a trio of players to Oakland in exchange for old Buster Mails. If Buster shows anything like this old-time form it will prove to have been a good investment for Rickey.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

NEW YORK, March 2.—Champions make champions. Already Nurmi's sensational feats on the running track have borne fruit among American athletes. He has served to convert a group of 4.25 milers into speeders who are doing 4.15 pretty consistently.

Lloyd Hahn has come to the point where he has even surpassed Nurmi's hair raising mile record of January 6, which as will be recalled was 4.13 3-5 seconds. Hahn did 4.13 2-5 on February 16 last.

Old reliable Joie Ray has even shaded his normal 4.20 and Jimmy Connolly, Willie Goodwin, Leo Larivee and others are running as they have never run before.

Americans are sensationalists and Nurmi has supplied much material that makes for sensation. His program has been skillfully handled so that with each new appearance he still has opportunity to shave records that are but a few days old.

But this phase of his activities seem less important to the writer than his permanent contribution to the running game; for one thing, the inspiration he has given to American distance runners, the lesson he has taught them.

Prior to the Olympic games Willie Ritola was just an ordinary distance runner. But, being a Finnish citizen he returned to his native land to prepare to represent its flag at Paris.

A large part of his training was done with Nurmi, the result being that at the international games he made a record almost as creditable as that of his famous compatriot. Willie found his speed by running with Nurmi.

Now he is not only fast approaching a plane of equality with Nurmi but, the writer sincerely believes, is working to a point where he may eclipse the flying Finn. For, in spite of all that has been written and said to the contrary, closest students of track form believe Paavo's style is rather a handicap than a help to his running.

His high carriage, it is held, produces a noticeable catch in his motion which is quite similar to that catch in an eight oared sheil when a crew recovers too rapidly. The other day Ritola broke Nurmi's record of 14.44 3-5 for the five thousand meters, doing 14.23 1-5.

It is altogether likely that in a few years Nurmi will be remembered only by the true fans who, like the present generation of track fans, refer to Tommy Conneff, Lon Mysers and Maxey Long as the real heroes of the game.

But the general sporting public will echo only the names of current heroes and never even know that Nurmi the great thrilled thousands with his marvelous performances.

Nurmi has shown American athletes that it can be done. Now watch them go out and do it. Champions make champions.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, March 2.—About $75 was cleared for the building fund of the La Crescenta Valley Women's club by the St. Patrick's dance given Saturday night at the school. The hall was decorated with streamers of green with festoons from rafter to rafter. In the center of the hall a plug hat of the Killarney type was suspended from the center of the ceiling. On the piano and stage were baskets of acacia blooms with a small St. Patrick and Colleen keeping guard. Excellent music was furnished by the Verdugo Hills orchestra. A. H. Cochran was master of ceremonies at the door, assisted by George Carson. Hostesses for the affair were: Mesdames G. Conway, M. H. Card and F. Davenport. Decorations were by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. A. B. Cochran and Messrs. Conway, Card and Davenport.

Chaperoned by their teacher, Miss H. Kussart, members of the Spanish class in the Broadway High school, motored to Los Angeles recently to see a Spanish play. Those attending were: Helen Haskins, Mildred Maranville, Dorothy Potter, Heen Mead, Jack MacDonald, Laura Kennedy, Roy Peck, Basil Brooks, Niel Darby, Frank Hopkins.

George Dabney, partner of the oil king, Doheny, is calling for bids for a large house to be erected on Briggs avenue.

W. L. Klewer is home from the hospital where he underwent three operations. He is in a serious condition and under the care of a trained nurse.

Eight members of the P.-T. A. reading circle are preparing papers on various subjects of interest to mothers for the Wednesday program at the regular monthly meeting to be at the La Crescenta school.

DUFFY IS READY TO MEET WALKER

Coast Fighter Signs Up For Bout With Champion In Oakland March 21

OAKLAND, March 2.—Jimmy Duffy, Pacific coast welterweight champion, today signed with the Mission Athletic club of San Francisco for a ten-round fight to a decision with Mickey Walker, world's champion, Tim McGrath announced.

Don Shields, matchmaker for the club, is now en route to Los Angeles, where he will try and bind Walker for the match. The San Francisco club desires to stage the fight March 21.

Seek Another Bout

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Strings were being pulled hard here today to arrange a bout at the San Francisco baseball park between Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia lightweight, and Young Stribling, the sensational "Georgia schoolboy."

The proposed bout would be under the auspices of the Mission Athletic club of this city. Definite word is expected from Stribling today. Matchmaker Don Shields intimated that in event Stribling refuses, Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, would be offered a battle with Loughran.

AT VERDUGO CITY

VERDUGO CITY, March 2.—Building operations on the new brick block proposed for Verdugo City will begin this week when a large one-story store and auto salesroom will be erected on the southwest corner of Los Angeles and Honolulu avenue. The building will be constructed of roughed brick of terra cotta trimmed with cement-colored stone. There will be a salesroom for the Chevrolet Co., a barber shop and bath establishment for the Seers Co., and two other stores. The building will be constructed so as to carry another floor which it is expected will be apartment suites to be added some time in the summer.

Dr. Frank Brough, accompanied by his son, Hazen W. Brough, are at present the house guests of the Harry N. Fowlers. Hazen Brough who has just arrived from New York has entered into partnership with Mr. Fowler and will manage the Chevrolet agency in the La Crescenta Valley.

Verdugo City Social club will hold an old-fashioned St. Patrick's day dance on Tuesday night, March 17. Everything is promised in keeping with the occasion.

Over one-hundred and fifty persons were present at the Saturday night dance given by the Building association of the Fowler building, most of the dancers coming from out-of-town.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, March 2.—Master George Hicks of Broadview avenue celebrated his fourth birthday anniversary when a number of his little friends gathered at his home to wish him the compliments of the day. Kites were flown and small autos raced around the pool in the Hicks' gardens. Refreshments were served. Color scheme was pink. A large birthday cake held the center of attraction with four diminutive candles. Those present were: Frances Smith, James Perry, William Fowler and George MacCrea of Sparr Heights; Virginia and Bobby Strong of Eagle Rock; David and John Gillian of Los Angeles, and the host's brother Jimmy, and sister, Patricia.

A letter received by John C. Merwin from Frank B. Turner, realtor, states he had visited in Tucson, Arizona, and was on his way to Nogales, where he expected to be for a short time.

'CINCH' BILLS, LOBBYISTS GET HIT

Both Legislative Houses Are On Trail of 'Fixers' In Capitol Halls

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service
Special to the Evening News.

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—Two committees—one in the Senate and the other in the Assembly—have started on the trail of lobbyists and so-called "cinch" bills, as a result of resolutions directing investigations into current reports of attempted extortion.

The upper house demands that hereafter all lobbyists or persons appearing before committees in the interests of legislation, make known whom they represent, and their qualifications. It may be that Senator Ralph Swing of San Bernardino, chairman of the special committee on the subject, who asked these regulations be imposed, will have his committee investigate the sources of supply of much good liquor reported in circulation, although the writer is apt to be called "yellow" for inferring that such rumors are true.

Hurley Defiant

Senator E. S. "Tex" Hurley of Oakland, who has gained considerable unfavorable, and perhaps unwarranted publicity in regards to the Chinese herb scandal, launched a tirade Friday afternoon in the Senate chamber against the "yellow press." Senator Cadet Taylor of Pomona urged the members not to get excited over the harpoons flung by the Fourth Estate.

In the meantime, there is going to be a field day, or maybe it will last a week, in chasing lobbyists around corners in an effort to purge the solons of any ulterior motives in introducing some very peculiar legislation.

Dirty Linen Washed

Senator A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena said he was glad to have criticism of subject matter in his bills because it brought forth the true facts. That is a very reasonable way to look at the situation, but not so for those of the members who scented several scandals in the offing and started washing dirty linen.

Monday afternoon sees the assembly committee under the chairmanship of Sidney Graves delving into the oriental scandal.

Lawyers have a difficult time for the laws they make do not cover everything they desire. Senator L. L. Dennett recently was fined $1200 for contempt in a civil case by Judge Rector in Merced county. His client also was fined. Attorney Dennett found that he could take no appeal and, in order to save the fine money or the spending of 600 days in jail, he has carried the case to the supreme court on a writ of review.

Contempt Cases

In the meantime he hopes to avert further incidents of like nature by changing the law to permit of appeals in civil contempt cases, the same as in criminal trials. The Senate judiciary committee has sent out his measure "do pass," although it may not save Dennett's $1200 if he loses in the high tribunal.

Senator H. C. Nelson also has a bill repairing a law which lost a case in Humbodlt county. Janet Sunter, a Eureka girl, was arrested on the charge of whi-ling" by a city officer there while the latter was alleged to have been intoxicated. The girl had a rather miserable experience with the custodian of the peace, and sued for damages.

Courts ruled that the officer's bond was invalid as the city operated under a freeholder's charter, the same as Glendale and many other communities. Nelson's bill makes all such bonds legal and subject to suits for redress—if that's what the girl wanted.

DR. YOUNG VICTOR AS WAFFLE BAKER

Wins Judges' Decision Over Woman Expert In Test At Country Club

Dr. T. C. Young was proclaimed winner of the waffle-baking contest Saturday night at the Oakmont Country club, climaxing a day full of thrilling events.

Saturday morning Dr. Young performed a major operation and at 10:30 o'clock took off from Glendale airport to attend the meeting of Chamber of Commerce secretaries held at Ventura. After addressing the meeting, Dr. Young flew back to Glendale and attired himself for the informal dance held at Oakmont Country club. After the dance the waffle-baking contest between Dr. Young and Mrs. Arthur Cressey, was staged.

Dr. Young, with a diffident air, proceeded to mix his waffle dough, literally throwing all ingredients together. The judges decided in his favor. Members of Bill Hatch's orchestra were the judges.

AERIAL MEET IS GIVEN APPROVAL

C. C. Secretaries in Favor Of Flying Fields For California Cities

owning planes in Southern California, but upwards of 50,000, he said.

Dr. Young extended a cordial invitation to the secretaries to attend the Glendale air meet on March 14 and 15 and to have other representatives of their Chambers of Commerce present to assist in the formation of the Southern California Aeronautical association.

Loud applause punctuated Dr. Young's address. At its conclusion other aeronautical enthusiasts spoke and a general discussion of the subject and of the Glendale meet took place. It resulted in the unanimous vote by the secretaries endorsing the campaign set in motion in Glendale, and pledging the individual support of every secretary of the movement.

Support is Pledged

President Phill of the Ventura air club warmly congratulated the Glendale representatives on the initiative shown by this city in the matter of commercial aviation. He pledged the support of the Ventura club and other similar organizations in and around Ventura county.

A. L. Olinger, Chamber of Commerce secretary from Santa Ana announced that his city is at present engaged in establishing a forty acre flying field with several commercial air enterprises. He urged that all chambers of commerce support the establishment of landing fields in their communities. Secretary Olinger also spoke briefly on state laws to regulate flying in California; a phase of the work it is planned to take up through the aeronautical association when that body starts to function.

Many of the secretaries motored from the country club to the Ventura Airport to witness the Glendalians hop off for home at 4 o'clock.

MAN FOUND SLAIN BELIEVED BANDIT

Body Found On Lonely Road Answers Description Of Gem Thief

SAN DIEGO, March 2.—Police were today endeavoring to identify the body of a man found slain beside a lonely road at Morena, just north of Old Town, who answers the description of the bandit who Saturday night held up and robbed Mrs. Dorothy Smolen and Mrs. B. Rosenfeld, of Hollywood, at the U. S. Grant hotel, of jewelry valued at $10,000.

The dead man had been shot and then stabbed, presumably before the body was brought to Morena, where it was found partly clothed and covered with bath towels. Identification marks had been removed from what clothing was left on the body.

The police theory is that the alleged bandit had followed the two women from Los Angeles to San Diego, robbed them and, in turn, was robbed and murdered by others.

Song Writer Visits Glendale Resident

Daniel Rose, well-known writer and composer, who recently returned from a trip to the west coast of Mexico, is a house guest of Mrs. S. E. Logie at 414 North Everett street. Mr. Rose first visited Glendale in 1896 when the country was planted in grain fields and orchards. Mr. Rose will be at the Logie home for several weeks.

Opinions

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

President Coolidge officially becomes president of the United States on Wednesday. According to his wishes the pomp which characterized this ceremony in the pre-war days will be a minus quantity. If the day be fair, and the weather man says it will, Mr. Coolidge will take the oath of office on a rostrum especially erected in front of the Capitol building; if unfavorable, the oath of office will be taken in the Senate Chamber. "Fair and rather cool" is the weather man's prognostication, which recalls the Coolidge campaign slogan, "Keep Cool With Coolidge." This decision to cut out all pomp and show from his inauguration is only another link in the Coolidge chain of economy.

Joseph L. Kelley

Mr. Coolidge certainly should be the deciding factor in matters relating to his own official elevation to the presidency. There are a lot of people who agree with him; there are a lot who would have journeyed to Washington if the pomp hadn't been eliminated. These latter people will stay at home. They reason the trip is not worth while.

Virtually the only ceremony left by Mr. Coolidge that will be of interest to all is his inaugural address, and this, it is said, will be very brief. With the radio at the command of everyone, why journey to Washington to hear this address when the radio will record it in the president's own voice?

That's the way af lot of Americans reason. Mr. Coolidge probably is better satisfied. He never was an advocate of "showoffness." Washington merchants and hotelmen are the losers; not Mr. Coolidge.

Ye Ed was in Washington when Woodrow Wilson was inaugurated in 1913, his first appearance as tenant at the White House. He hung from a broker's window in the Riggs building, across from the treasury building and within a stone's throw of the White House, and watched the parade.

It took the parade just two hours to pass a given point. Governors in plug hats were as numerous as hoods at a Klan meeting. Governor Seltzer of New York, known over the country for his eccentricities in dress, was the only chief state executive in line without the formal plug hat. "Bill" wore a black slouch model of ancient vintage.

Wilson was the center of a real, old-fashioned inaugural parade. West Point and Annapolis cadets, the crack drill teams of cavalry and infantry from Culver Military academy made historic Pennsylvania avenue a dazzling scene of feathered helmets and flashing bayonets.

Balloon peddlers, hot-dog vendors, souvenir squawkers and tin-type photo demons turned dignified Washington into a Coney Island. For more than a week before and after inauguration, Washington was not official Washington, but carnival Washington.

Close on the heels of inauguration comes the picturesque and colorful "Egg-Rolling" contest on the White House grounds on Easter Saturday, or is it Sunday? Children and grownups, with baskets of eggs splashed with all the colors of the rainbow, scamper up and down the hilly surface of the closely-cropped, well-kept lawns in the rear of the executive mansion.

And all this to the tunes of the famous Marine Band, tearing off martial airs that are guaranteed to send thrills up the spines of the most ardent pacifist.

Woodrow Wilson rode up Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol to the White House for his first four years' tenure under a clear, blue sky, with an occasional chill in the breeze that came off the muddy Potomac after sweeping through the famous wireless station on the Virginia shore.

No one who stood on the sidelines at Wilson's first inauguration will ever forget his gracious, sweeping acknowledgment of greetings to his "packed house."

Eight years later, an old man, huddled in a seat with President-elect Harding, tried bravely, but failed, to wave that same greeting on that same Pennsylvania avenue. Wilson was a physical and mental wreck from the colossal worries of a World War.

NOTICE OF SALE OF FRANCHISE

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT SOUTHERN COUNTIES GAS COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA, a corporation, has made its application to the City Council of the City of Glendale for a grant to it, its successors and assigns of a franchise and privilege herein particularly described; that said City Council proposes to grant said franchise and privilege in accordance with the laws of the State of California, said franchise being particularly described as follows, to-wit:

A franchise to lay, construct, maintain, use and operate gas pipes in, under and along those certain streets, alleys, lanes, highways and public places in and of the said City of Glendale, described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at the southeasterly boundary line of the City of Glendale, where Sonora Avenue intersects Flower Street; thence northwesterly on Flower Street to the northwesterly boundary line of the City of Glendale between Allen Avenue and Linden Avenue.

Together with the right to carry, transport and convey manufactured and/or natural gas in and through said pipes for light, heat and power purposes, together with the right to lay, construct, maintain and operate all such other apparatus and appliances in connection therewith as may be necessary to safely and efficiently operate, maintain and use said pipe lines.

Said franchise shall continue for a period of twenty-five (25) years from the date of granting same.

Said franchise is offered for sale upon the terms and conditions hereinafter contained and said grantee shall file with the City Clerk of the City of Glendale a written acceptance within thirty (30) days after passage of the ordinance granting same. The terms and conditions under which said franchise is offered for sale are as follows:

First: That the grantee or grantees of said franchise and privilege, his or their successors or assigns, shall, in good faith, commence work to lay and construct said pipe lines in a good and workmanlike manner within not more than four months from the granting of said franchise and privilege, and shall thereafter continuously prosecute said work diligently and in good faith, so as not to obstruct the use of the streets by the public or to cause inconvenience to the abutting property owners for an unreasonable length of time.

Second: That the grantee of said franchise, his, its or their successors or assigns, shall have the right to make all necessary excavations in any such streets and thoroughfares hereinbefore mentioned for the construction and repair of such pipe lines; provided that such right shall be subject to such regulations as are now or may hereafter be in force and in particular Ordinance No. 369 of the City of Glendale, adopted on the 29th day of January, 1920, and entitled, "An Ordinance Regulating the Making and Refilling of Excavations in Public Streets, Alleys, Sidewalks and Other Public Places, Repealing Sections 7, 8, 9 and 10 of Ordinance No. 21 and Repealing Ordinance 119."

Third: That no part of the pipes shall be laid not less than three (3) feet beneath the surface of the streets or alleys wherein laid and shall be located along a line first to be designated by the Street Superintendent of said City of Glendale, Where such pipes are to be laid under or across any street paved with macadam or concrete, the same shall be done so as not to disturb the foundation thereof by a tunnel or bore, or when this cannot be done, and a special permit from said Street Superintendent upon application therefor, such application to be accompanied by a drawing, specifications and explanation showing reasons therefor.

Fourth: That during the laying or repairing of any such pipes, any trench or excavations made for such purposes shall at night time, from sunset to sunrise, be barricaded and protected by lanterns placed at distances of not more than one hundred (100) feet apart along such trench or excavation, and also at all street and alley intersections, sufficient to protect the public.

Fifth: The pipe line constructed or maintained under the provisions of this franchise shall be constructed and maintained in accordance and conformity with all of the ordinances, rules and regulations now in force, or that may hereafter be adopted and prescribed by the Council of said City of Glendale.

Sixth: That the work of laying and repairing such pipes or other appliances shall be conducted with the least possible hindrance to the use of said streets for the purpose of travel, and as soon as the laying or repairing of any pipes or appliances is completed, all portions of the streets which have been excavated or otherwise injured thereby shall be placed in as good condition as the same were before the laying of such pipes, and to the satisfaction of the Street Superintendent of said City. That any damage or injury suffered by any person by reason of any excavation being improperly guarded during said work shall be borne by the grantee of said franchise, his or its successors or assigns.

Seventh: That the City of Glendale reserves the right to change the grade of any street or portion thereof over which said franchise shall be granted, and the grantee of said franchise, his or its successors or assigns, shall at once change the location of all pipes and other appliances laid under said franchise, so as to conform to said change of grade. That if any portion of any of said streets shall be damaged by reason of leaks in any pipe laid under said franchise, the grantee of such franchise, his or its successors, shall at his, its or their expense, repair any such damage and put said street in as good condition as before such leak, to the satisfaction of the Street Superintendent of said City.

Eighth: That if the grantee of said franchise, his, its or their successors or assigns, shall fail to comply with any of the written instructions of the City Council or the Street Superintendent of said City, with respect to the location of any portion of said system or pipes or pipe lines, or the repair of any damage to said streets or thoroughfares, within ten (10) days after the service of written notice upon said grantee, his, its or their successors or assigns, requiring compliance therewith, then said City Council or Street Superintendent may immediately do whatever work is necessary to carry out said instructions at the cost and expense of said grantee, his, its or their successors or assigns, which costs, by the acceptance of said franchise, said grantee, his, its or their successors or assigns, agree to pay upon demand.

Ninth: That the said grantee or its successors or asigns shall, during the life of said franchise, pay to the City of Glendale, in lawful money of the United States, two per cent of the gross annual receipts of such grantee, its successors or assigns, arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise; provided, however, that no percentage shall be paid for the first five (5) years succeeding the date of this franchise.

It shall be the duty of the grantee of said franchise and its successors or assigns to file with the Clerk of the City of Glendale at the expiration of one year after said period of five (5) years, and at the expiration of each and every year thereafter, a statement verified by the oath of said grantee or its successors or assigns, or by the oath of the manager or other authorized officer of said grantee, or its successors or assigns, showing in detail the total gross earnings collected or received by said grantee or its successors or assigns during the preceding twelve (12) months for the use, sale, rental or furnishing of manufactured and/or natural gas for light, heat, power or any other purpose whatsoever from any part of the system for the construction and operation of which said franchise is granted, and within ten (10) days after the time for filing the aforesaid statement it shall be the duty of said grantee, its successors or assigns, to pay to the City Treasurer of the City of Glendale the aggregate sum of said percentage upon the amount of the gross annual receipts arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise, and if the amount paid is incorrect in the judgment of the City Council, it may order the payment of such additional sum as it may find due hereunder, and if not paid the same may be collected by suit. Any neglect, omission or refusal by said grantee or its successors or assigns to file said verified statement or to pay said percentage of the said gross annual receipts at the time or in the manner hereinbefore provided shall work a forfeiture of said franchise and of all the rights thereunder to the City of Glendale.

Tenth: That whenever any portion of the territory covered by said franchise shall be annexed to or otherwise become a part of any other municipal corporation or of the County of Los Angeles, or any other county, the rights reserved under said franchise to the City of Glendale or any officer thereof shall inure to the benefit of such municipal corporation or county and its appropriate officers.

Eleventh: That the said grantee or its successors or assigns shall not sell, transfer or assign said franchise or any of the rights or privileges granted thereby, except by a duly executed instrument in writing filed in the office of the Clerk of the City of Glendale; and provided further, that nothing in said franchise contained shall be construed to grant to said grantee or its successors or assigns any right to sell, transfer or assign said franchise or any of the rights and privileges thereby granted, except in the manner aforesaid.

Twelfth: That any neglect, failure or refusal to comply with any of the conditions of said franchise shall work a forfeiture thereof and the said City, by its City Council, may thereupon declare said franchise forfeited and may exclude said grantee or its successors or assigns from further use of the highways of said City under said franchise; and the said grantee or its successors or assigns shall thereupon surrender, upon demand by appropriate instrument in writing, all rights in and to the same, and said franchise shall be deemed and shall remain null, void and of no effect.

The grant of said franchise shall be effective only upon the further condition that the grantee shall, at all times during the life of said franchise, keep on file with the City Council a bond running to said City of Glendale in the penal sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1000.00), with at least two sureties to be approved by said City Council, conditioned upon said bidder well and truly observing, fulfilling and performing each and every term and condition of said franchise, and that in case of any breach of condition of said bond the whole amount of the penal sum therein named shall be taken and deemed to be liquidated damages and shall be recoverable from the principal and sureties on said bond; provided, however, that if said bond shall not be so filed, the award of said franchise shall be set aside and the money paid therefor shall be forfeited, and said franchise shall be, in the discretion of the City Council, re-advertised and again offered for sale in the same manner and under the same restrictions as herein provided. If said bond be not so filed and kept on file, said franchise shall be void and of no effect, and any money paid therefor or thereunder shall be forfeited.

Said franchise shall be granted on the condition that all expenses of sale and of advertising said franchise shall be paid by the successful bidder, and unless so paid said franchise shall be forfeited.

NOTICE IS ALSO HEREBY GIVEN that sealed bids in writing will be received for said franchise up to ten o'clock a. m. on the 31st day of March, 1925, and at the time above mentioned, and in the Council room of the City Council of the City of Glendale, any and all sealed bids will be opened; that all bids must be for the payment of a stated sum in gold coin of the United States, and that the said franchise will be struck off, sold and awarded to the person, firm or corporation who makes the highest cash bid therefor provided only that at the time of the opening of said bids any responsible person, firm or corporation present or represented may bid for said franchise or privilege a sum of not less than ten per cent (10%) above the highest sealed bid therefor, and said bid so made may be raised not less than ten per cent (10%) by any other responsible bidder, and said bidding may so continue until finally said franchise shall be struck off, sold and awarded to the highest bidder therefor in gold coin of the United States by said City Council.

That each sealed bid shall be accompanied with cash or a certified check payable to the Treasurer of the City of Glendale for the full amount of such bid, and no sealed bid shall be considered unless said cash or check is enclosed therewith, and the successful bidder shall deposit at least ten per cent (10%) of the amount of his bid with the Clerk of the City of Glendale before the franchise shall be struck off to him. If the successful bidder shall fail to make such deposit immediately, then and in that case his bid shall not be received and shall be considered as void, and the said franchise shall then and there be again offered for sale to the bidder who shall make the highest cash bid therefor, subject to the same conditions as to deposit as above mentioned. Said procedure shall be had until said franchise is struck off, sold and awarded to a bidder who shall make the necessary deposit of at least ten per cent (10%) of the amount of his bid therefor, as herein provided.

That the successful bidder shall deposit with the Clerk of the City of Glendale within twenty-four (24) hours after the acceptance of his bid the remaining ninety per cent (90%) of the amount thereof, and, in case he or it shall fail to do so, then the said deposit theretofore made shall be forfeited and the said award of said franchise shall be void, and the said franchise shall then and there by said City Council, in the same manner and under the same restrictions as hereinbefore provided, be again offered for sale to the highest bidder therefor and be struck off, sold and awarded; and in case said party shall fail to deposit with the Clerk of the City of Glendale the remaining ninety per c

'JESUS' TAKEN AS LUTHERAN'S TEXT

Rev. Kringel Shows Why Son of God Was Mightiest of All Men

Rev. Henry O. Kringel, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church, delivered a sermon yesterday morning on the theme "Jesus, the Son of God" saying:

"The people of Nazareth had been listening to a sermon. It was different from the discourses they were accustomed to hear from their scribes. It pulsated with life and heavenly truth, and it went directly to the heart and left those who heard it in a state of amazement. 'Whence,' they said, one to another, 'hath this man this wisdom and these mighty works? Matthew 13,54-56.

"And not only did they wonder at the sermon, they wondered at the preacher. 'Whence hath this man this wisdom?' Had the sermon come from the lips of the greatest rabbi in the land it would have been a marvel, but coming from the lips of this carpenter's son it was more than a marvel, it was a miracle.

No Stranger

"The preacher was no stranger to them. He had lived among them for thirty years as a boy and man. This was His first visit to Nazareth, after entering upon His public ministry, and this was the first sermon preached in the hearing of His fellow townsmen and it left them in a state of bewilderment. And, as with these Nazarenes, so the impression was a general one.

"If you turn to your gospels you will be surprised to find how often we are told that the people 'marveled' or 'were astonished' at what Jesus did. He is the unaccountable man, the wonder and amazement of the world, who cannot be classed with others; who, as He stands before us, as He did before the congregation at Nazareth hundreds of years ago, still invites the question 'Whence hath this man wisdom and these mighty works?'

Greatest Wisdom

"The Jews had their great rabbis, such as Shammai and Hillel, men of eminent learning and intellect; but what is all their knowledge, as transmitted to us, but dust and dross compared with the wisdom that fell from the lips of Jesus? They appear as mere children in their mastery of divine things compared with Jesus.

"Many great thinkers have appeared in the course of the world's history. To recall but a few names which we have heard, Plato and Aristotle, Kant and Newton, Homer and Virgil, Shakespeare and Goethe, Dante and Milton. These men were great men, supremely gifted men, who tower above the ordinary level of humanity, as some great mountain height over the valley nestling at its feet. Yet, placed at the side with Jesus of Nazareth, there is no comparison.

Mightiest of All

"You will have to admit concerning Jesus, when you read the gospels 'Never man spake like this man.' And as we heard, was He not the performer of mighty works, the mightiest of which was that, by reason of His being God and man in one person, He was able to, and did, redeem our fallen and sinful race and became our Savior? What, therefore, is your attitude toward Him in this respect?

"Is He your Savior? To whom do you look for safety amid the spiritual wreckage that has broken down our relation between God and man? Is it your conviction 'Neither is there any other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved?' Here is the core of the matter.

Came As Savior

"It may sound pleasant enough to hear Jesus Christ of Nazareth spoken of in terms of highest eulogy, lauded to the skies as the greatest philanthropist, the wisest of moralists, the sublimest flower of humanity and the like. They once buried our Lord in a rocky tomb.

"In our day they bury Him in a flowery one, but for all of that it amounts to little or nothing unless we accept Him unto our souls as that for which He came into this world, namely to be our Savior, to save His people from their sins to open the way of approach to the kingdom above. Do you accept Him in true faith as such? If you do, you have right thoughts of Him and you are standing in the right relation to Him and He to you."

'PRAYER' TAKEN AS REV. KEMP THEME

Pastor Warns Against World Asking Worship Of False Gods

"Prayer Is the Great Sanctuary of the Religious Life" was the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church. He said:

"When the children of Israel were captives in the foreign land of Babylon, they were aliens in more senses than one, for a Hebrew was tied very closely to the worship in the temple, and when that was denied him, he was in exile indeed. The author of the forty-second Psalm, writing at an earlier date, felt keenly the sense of exile way up by Mount Hermon: 'As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after Thee, O God,' Ezekiel, the great prophet of the exile, was able, however, to bring great consolation to the grief-stricken fellow countrymen in this as in many other things, for he told them of God's promises to be with them wherever they might be. 'I have removed them far off among the nations, and, whereas I have scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them a sanctuary in the countries where they are come.'

"Far away from familiar scenes, among an alien people, yet God was still with them, offering them a help and guidance in their sorrow.

Sanctuary of Prayer

"To us the same query often comes as we hear the babel of voices calling us away into paths that are often quite foreign to the words of the Gospel. The world is asking us to worship foreign gods, uphold non-Christian standards, and filling us with dismay.

"To us comes the words of Christ: 'Lo, I am with you, even to the end of the world.' There is the sanctuary of prayer that is ever open to us when the conflicting voices of the world would call us away. Each one of us has sanctuaries to which we like to flee; the home after the day of business, the cabin in the mountains that calls us in vacation time, or the quiet nook where in study we would hide outside the world of practical affairs. Just as real and much more compelling is the sanctuary of prayer that calls us to come and find God. Prof. George A. Coe writes that, if you will tell him what a man's prayers are like, he can tell you what that man's religion is like.

"The key to our religious earnestness will be found in our prayer life. While many are today finding difficulties with prayer, yet most of those would disappear if we could only look on prayer as the life of co-operation with God.

Jesus' Example

"It is not seeking to have our wills prevail, but to find out what is the will of God in Christ for us. Read the Gospels and this will be seen as the attitude of Jesus. We would no longer storm the battlements of heaven in prayer, but, rather, patiently seek to know the will of God. It is the great source of strength and power to the soul when he finds how to unite his will with that of God. Phillips Brooks said a true Christian must always have an answer to prayer, for he cannot pray a prayer incapable of answer.

"Jesus has given us a great example of this in His earthly life. The period He spent in the wilderness was a time of prayer. We cannot give a better illustration of the life of co-operation with God than this, that He prayed for the revelation of His Father's will that He might go forth and reveal that will. This is our great source of hope and encouragement, that we can go to that closet and seek the source of the life of co-operation with our great Lord and Master, Jesus Christ."

PRESIDENT LAST WORD ON PARDONS

Supreme Court So Rules In Bootlegger's Freedom Under Coolidge

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The power of the president of the United States to pardon law offenders is absolute, the United States supreme court ruled today.

The supreme court ordered dismissed the petition of the federal court in Chicago to order Grossman back to jail for contempt of court.

'POWER' CHIEF AIM REV. THOMAS SAYS

Spiritual, Material Effort Compared In Sermon At Grand View

"The world today is on the hunt for power" said Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor of the Grand View church yesterday morning in his sermon on "Is Thy God Able?", continuing:

"Everywhere men are seeking power and they are continually discovering it. Almost every day we hear of 'new power,' but it is not so much new power as discoveries of the powers already in existence, powers that God created before the beginning of time. Steam, electricity, and atomic energy are not new, neither are the physical, mental and spiritual powers of man's own being new. It is only that men are probing deeper and deeper into God's power house in the universe of men and things.

Power Compared

"Man's investigations go from large to little and from little back to large. Only a little while ago a scientist found by experimental study that a growing squash could lift twelve tons. Immediately he began to reason what a man could lift were he as strong and able as a squash.

"Well, man does not lift squash loads. That is not his work in life. He bears burdens of body, mind and spirit. He carries the world in which the squash grows. Compare the lifting power of a squash or of the mightiest engine that can be devised to the lifting power of a mother who brings up children, or of men who lift the race.

Great Discoveries

"The greatest discoveries of power are being made in humanity, in the sources and powers of mankind. Man has two million brain cells; thus far the greatest man has perhaps used two hundred thousand. Think of the undeveloped powers. What room magnificent for more faith, more hope, more love!

"Nature abhors a vacuum. God abhors uselessness. The universe is full of His storehouses and shot through with His divine purpose. His touch today makes the brain and soul of man to leap and spring and flame with power. 'I am the Lord, the God of all flesh. Is there anything too hard for me?' said the Lord. Oh, Christian, is thy God able? What God purposes, that will He carry through, and the Power that creates power is ours for the using."

Portland To Seattle By Bus Line Assured

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A through motor bus line from Seattle, Wash., to Portland, Ore., was assured today when the United States supreme court reversed the decision of a federal court upholding E. V.
